US APPEALS COURT: TRUMP IS NOT IMMUNE FROM PROSECUTION

A federal appeals panel ruled on Tuesday that former US president Donald Trump can face trial on charges that he plotted to overturn the results of the 2020 election, rejecting the former president's claims that he is immune from prosecution. The decision marks the second time that judges have spurned Trump's immunity arguments and held that he can be prosecuted for actions undertaken while in the White House and in the run-up to January 6, 2021.

Hockey player Varun Kumar booked under POCSO Act

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

BENGALURU Police has booked feted hockey player Varun Kumar under the stringent Protection of Children from Sexual Offences (POCSO) Act following a complaint by a 21-year-old woman, who accused the Arjuna awardee of sexually abusing her when she was a minor.

The woman, who hails from Hyderabad and is currently working with an airline, said she met Kumar in 2018 when he was training at the Sports Authority of India in Bengaluru. She said Kumar later contacted her through Instagram and insisted on meeting her.

In her complaint to police, the woman said Kumar took her to a hotel room in Bengaluru in July 2019 on the pretext of having a discussion about their marriage and got physically intimate with her. She said she continued the relationship for five years based on his promise to marry her. She filed a complaint when he allegedly refused to marry her and also stopped responding to her calls.

S Girish, Deputy Commissioner of Police (West), said: "A case has been registered against the hockey player. At present, he is not in Karnataka. Two teams will be sent to trace him."

Kumar has also been booked under sections 376 (rape) and 420 (cheating) of the IPC.

Kumar, 28, is a native of Himachal Pradesh, who debuted for India in 2017. The Himachal government awarded him ₹1 crore after the Indian men's Hockey team won the bronze medal at the 2020 Tokyo Olympics. He was also part of the Indian team that won silver in the 2022 Birmingham Commonwealth Games. He was conferred the Arjuna Award in 2021. He later moved to Punjab and was recently promoted to the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police.

Uttarakhand's UCC bill tabled, live-in registration mandatory

Opposition seeks more time to study legislation; wants it sent to House panel for vetting

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

AMONG the major talking points of the Uniform Civil Code bill tabled in Uttarakhand's special assembly session on Tuesday was the stipulation that live-in partners must register themselves within a month with district officials or face imprisonment. Anyone in a live-in relationship for more than a month without getting it registered could face up to three months in jail or a fine of up to ₹10,000 or both. Those providing false information could be asked to cough up ₹25,000.

On the flip side, children born of such relationships will be considered legitimate and deserted women will be entitled to maintenance from their partners.

Live-in partners cannot be under 18. If any one of them is under 21, the registrar would be mandated to inform their parents or guardians, bill states.

During the debate on the bill, the opposition Congress pressed for it to be sent to a House panel for review.

The bill was originally stated for debate and passage on Tuesday. But since the opposition demanded more time to study it, Speaker Ritu Khanduri said the discussion will continue on Wednesday.

Chief Minister Pushkar Singh Dhami holds a copy of the Constitution at Vidhan Sabha Bhawan

KEY FEATURES

- Uniform divorce law across all religions
- Provision for compulsory registration for live-in relationships
- Across-the-board bar on polygamy
- Consistent regulations for post-divorce financial support
- Uniform adoption law irrespective of religious beliefs
- Equal property rights for girls across the board
- Legal marriage age for girls to be set at 18 years universally
- Tribal communities exempt from UCC

The bill proposes a uniform process for the registration of marriage and divorce. Couples and officials have also been assigned responsibilities and accountability. Failing to register a marriage or not complying with the rules would attract a maximum fine of ₹25,000.

Among the significant recommendations made by the UCC panel were the prohibition of practices such as polygamy, halala, iddat, and child marriage; the establishment of a uniform age for marriage of girls regardless of religion; and equal inheritance rights for all genders.

Members of the ruling BJP referred to the Shah Bano case during the discussion, accusing the Congress of not respecting the Supreme Court's verdict. The BJP has 47 MLAs in the 70-member assembly.

Coming as it does ahead of the Lok Sabha elections, the bill fulfils one of the key promises of the Uttarakhand BJP.

In jolt to Pawar Sr, ECI holds Ajit-led group as real NCP

PARVEZ SULTAN & SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ New Delhi/Mumbai

IN a major setback to Nationalist Congress Party founder Sharad Pawar, the Election Commission of India on Tuesday recognised the faction led by his nephew Ajit Pawar as the real NCP and allowed it to use the party's symbol Wall Clock. Sharad Pawar will have to apply for a new party and symbol by Wednesday 4.00 pm; otherwise, his MLAs will be recognised as independents.

While adjudicating the matter in favour of the Ajit camp, the ECI said Sharad Pawar failed to prove he enjoys the support of a majority of NCP legislators. The ECI followed three tests — test of aims and objectives of party constitution, test of party constitution, and test of majority — to adjudicate the case. Both factions failed to pass the first two tests, while the Ajit-led group passed the third test of majority.

The ECI found that Ajit enjoys the support of 41 MLAs and 5 MLCs in Maharashtra, 7 MLAs in Nagaland, one MLA in Jharkhand, and two Lok Sabha MPs and one Rajya sabha MP. Sharad Pawar has got the support of 15 MLAs and 4 MLCs in Maharashtra, two MLAs in Kerala, and 4 Lok Sabha MPs and 3 Rajya Sabha MPs. One Lok sabha MP has given affidavits for both sides.

Reacting to the decision, NCP MP and Sharad Pawar's daughter Supriya Sule said they will move the Supreme Court within two days against the ECI order.

Ajit Pawar had split the NCP in July last year after he walked away with a majority of MLAs and joined the Eknath Shinde government as deputy CM along with eight other NCP legislators as cabinet ministers.

'CHALO DELHI'

Join today's protest, Siddu writes to MPs of all parties

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah has appealed to MPs from all political parties in the state to take part in Karnataka government's protest in New Delhi on Wednesday against the Centre's "discrimination" against the state in giving grants and depriving it of its share of tax money.

The CM has written to Union ministers Nirmala Sitharaman, Pralhad Joshi and Shobha Karandlaje and all MPs, including DV Sadananda Gowda and HD Deve Gowda, requesting them to participate in the protest.

"The state is neither getting funds from the Centre nor permission to take up development projects. As responsible elected representatives, I request you to take part in the dharna and support the state's cause," the CM stated in his letter.

The CM along with his cabinet ministers, and Congress legislators and MPs from the state will hold the protest near Jantar Mantar.

In a series of social media posts, the CM also urged people to participate in the protest in large numbers. "Rallying against the Centre's economic disparities, we call for unity in 'Chalo Delhi' on Wednesday at 11 am, Jantar Mantar. We stand against the unfair treatment in tax devolution and grants for Kannadigas. This movement is for Karnataka's rights, not against any individual. Join us in this crucial protest, transcending party lines, for our collective future," one of his posts stated.

We stand against the unfair treatment in tax devolution and grants for Kannadigas. This movement is for Karnataka's rights, not against any individual

Siddaramaiah, Chief Minister

The Union government gets funds through taxes that come from the states. Under the 14th Finance Commission, Karnataka's share was 4.71%. This came down to 3.64% in the 15th Finance Commission. Because of this, the state received Rs 45,000 crore less in the last four years. "Our estimation is that the amount would be Rs 62,098 crore in five years," Siddaramaiah said.

He said the Union government promised to release Rs 5,300 crore for the Upper Bhadra Project in its previous budget. But, it did not release even a single rupee. The Centre has not given its clearance for Mahadayi and Mekedatu projects. Although the state is facing a severe drought, the Centre has not released funds for the distressed farmers, he alleged.

JAL BOARD SCAM

ED raids premises linked to AAP MP, Kejriwal's secretary

UJWAL JALALI @ New Delhi

THE Enforcement Directorate (ED) on Tuesday carried out searches here at over a dozen locations, including premises of AAP MP and Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal's personal secretary, in connection with the alleged irregularities in the Delhi Jal Board's (DJB) tendering process.

The residences of CM's aide Bibhav Kumar, former DJB member Shalabh Kumar, AAP Rajya Sabha MP N D Gupta, chartered accountant Pankaj Mangal and others associated with the ruling party in Delhi were raided at 7 am, sources said.

Kejriwal said 23 ED officers carried out raids at the house of his personal assistant but nothing was recovered. These raids are being carried out to trample AAP, he added.

The DJB case stems from a FIR of the CBI and the anti-corruption branch of the Delhi government.

On January 31, the ED arrested retired DJB chief engineer Jagdish Kumar Arora and contractor Anil Kumar Aggarwal. As per the CBI's first information report, Arora awarded contracts to NKG Infrastructure for ₹38 crore despite its failure to meet the technical eligibility criteria. It claimed the company submitted forged documents to secure the bid.

ED analysis showed that only ₹17 crore was spent and the rest was allegedly passed on as kickbacks to the AAP.

Protest case: HC refuses to quash proceedings against CM, 4 netas

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

TAKING serious note of allegations of obstruction of traffic and disturbing peace during a protest in the city in 2022, the High Court of Karnataka has refused to quash the criminal proceedings against Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and four senior Congress leaders and imposed Rs 10,000 each as cost on them to be paid to the CM's Relief Fund.

The other accused are AICC general secretary Randeep Singh Surjewala, Large and Medium Industries Minister MB Patil, Transport Minister Ramalinga Reddy and MLC Saleem Ahmed. The court directed them to appear personally before the magistrate designated to try cases against sitting and former MPs and MLAs.

The cost was imposed on them for their unjustifiable act of dragging police sub-inspector Jahida during the protest. She had registered a case against them by arraigning as a respondent in her personal capacity though she discharged her official duty. P6

Stay off troubled Rakhine State, India tells nationals

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

WITH the rebel Arakan Army capturing a major part of Rakhine State in Myanmar amid intense battles with the military, India on Tuesday urged its nationals to stay away from that province.

"In view of the deteriorating security situation, disruption of means of telecommunications, including landlines and severe scarcity of essential commodities, all Indian citizens are advised not to travel to the Rakhine State of Myanmar. Those citizens who are already there are advised to leave the state immediately," said the advisory issued by India.

India has a stake in the province as it developed the Sittwe Port in Rakhine state, which is part of the ambitious $484 million Kaladan Multi Modal Transit Project. The clashes are worrying because they are happening close to the Sittwe Port. The last leg of the project Kaladan Multi Modal Transit Transport Project hasn't been completed due to the battle between the ethnic groups and the junta.

Similarly, major Chinese investment projects in Ramree (Yanbye) Island are under threat due to the fighting. A humanitarian crisis emerged after the Arakan Army seized two junta battalion headquarters in Mrauk U and Kyauktaw townships in Rakhine State.

National Security Advisor Ajit Doval was in Dhaka this past weekend, leading to speculation about the challenges in the region due to fighting between the Arakan Army and the Myanmar junta.

Feb 17 deadline for HSRP likely to be extended

Only 10 lakh vehicles complied with the rule

AKNISREE KARTHIK @Bengaluru

WITH just 10 days left for the deadline to affix High-Security Registration Plates (HSRP), only 10 lakh vehicles have complied with the rule. A total of 2 crore vehicles were registered before April 1, 2019. Many vehicle owners are not aware that they have to get the HSRP before February 17.

In August 2023, the state government had issued a notification to fix HSRP before November 17, and extended it by three months to February 17, giving people time to comply.

As crores of vehicles are yet to fall in line and the state transport department has not taken up wide publicity and awareness camps about the installation of HSRP, it looks like the government has no option but to extend the deadline once again, revealed transport department sources.

"We don't have the exact number of vehicles that were registered before April 2019. Our estimation is that more than 1.5 crore vehicles have to get HSRP," said Transport Commissioner Yogeesh.

We have started publicity drives asking people to get HSRP, he said, and added that nearly 10 lakh vehicles have got them and more are likely to do so in the coming days.

"I got my vehicle registered in 2018. Only recently I got to know that I have to get HSRP for my bike. I logged into 'bookmyhsrp' website, fed all the details it asked for and booked the registration plate. However, it will take some days for the number plate to be manufactured with the hologram, and I doubt I can get this done before the current deadline of February 17, to avoid any penalties," said Venkatesh M, a video editor.

While there is no official confirmation if the deadline for HSRP will be extended, sources from the transport department said it is inevitable to extend it again.

EL NINO TURNS FEB FROM COOL TO HUMID

EXPRESS ILLUSTRATION

IT feels like summer already. The days are humid, with the maximum temperature increasing by two degrees in Bengaluru. The weather pattern is similar in North Interior and Coastal Karnataka, where the maximum temperature is two degrees above normal. India Meteorological Department (IMD) officials say this is the El Nino effect, and expect the impact to become neutral by August.

According to an IMD official, there are humid conditions in Bengaluru because the maximum temperature touched 33.1 degrees Celsius, and minimum temperature is 18.1 degrees Celsius, whereas the average maximum temperature should have been 30.9 degrees Celsius and minimum 17.6 degrees Celsius.

The IMD also said that temperature recorded at Kempegowda International Airport was 33.1 (max) and 15.9 (min) degrees Celsius, and 32.9 (max) and 15 (min) degree Celsius at Old Airport.

"In a few places in South Interior Karnataka, Udupi and Karwar in Coastal Karnataka and Kalaburagi, Raichur, Bagalkot and Belagavi, the maximum temperature has increased by at least 2 degrees Celsius. Interestingly, such conditions are witnessed only in the third week of February as March 1 is officially considered the beginning of summer. This type of humid condition is because of El Nino," said an official.

COMEDK UGET TO BE HELD ON MAY 12

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE combined COMEDK Under Graduate Entrance Test (UGET) and Uni-GAUGE entrance examination for admissions to over 150 engineering colleges in Karnataka and around 50 private and deemed universities across India is scheduled to take place on May 12.

The Consortium of Medical, Engineering and Dental Colleges of Karnataka (COMEDK) will share around 22,000 seats (45%) with the Karnataka Examinations Authority (KEA) this academic year. Last year, the seat-sharing was capped at 20,000, the consortium said on Tuesday.

The combined examination is for colleges affiliated with the Karnataka Unaided Private Engineering Colleges Association (KUPECA) and Uni-GAUGE member universities from across India offering Bachelor in Engineering or Bachelor in Technology programmes. The applications were opened on February 1 and so far, 7,000 candidates have registered. Last year, around 96,000 students had registered for the entrance examination and this year, COMEDK expects over 1,00,000 students to appear. The online test will be conducted in 400 test centres across 200 cities in India to enable students to appear for the test as close to home as possible. Applicants can register at www.comedk.org or www.unigauge.com till April 5.

Students can attempt the tests either separately or in combination. The fee for the COMEDK test is Rs 1,650 and for Uni-GAUGE, it is Rs 1,600.

"Since many students are fresh out of school, we will offer six-seven mock examinations post registrations to train them on how to navigate through the exam. It will include how to skip a question, and how to shift from physics paper to chemistry and allow them to time themselves. The papers will change every week for practice," said S Kumar, Executive Secretary, COMEDK.

INNOVATION HUBS

COMED KARES has introduced innovation hubs, aimed at preparing students from participating institutions for the workforce through skill enhancement courses at Rs 1,500 for three months. Eight innovation hubs have been established across Karnataka, with four in Bengaluru and the rest in Mysuru, Kalaburagi, Mangaluru and Belagavi.

Applicants to get voter IDs by Feb-end

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

BRUHAT Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike Special Commissioner (elections) Ramachandran R said voter IDs are being dispatched in batches and most applicants will get their cards by the end of February, through the India Speed Post.

With many people inquiring about their voter IDs, officials said work on verification is going on. "It takes a long time for verification. People do not understand this. We have to call up each contact number listed to verify the details. Unless there is a response, the application cannot be processed, it cannot be accepted or rejected. This takes a long time," said a BBMP official posted on election duty.

Ramachandran R added that there are 28 electoral registration offices in Bengaluru and additions and deletions are a continuous process. There are technical issues in printing the cards, and it is being done in batches in a systematic manner, hence there could be some delays, he said.

"All those who applied for the voter IDs and have received an acknowledgement will get their cards. For tracking and checking the record details, citizens can access the voter helpline."

Class 9 girl's home remedies app bags top prize

PURAN CHOUDHARY @Bengaluru

APPROVED home remedies from physicians are now just a click away, thanks to 14-year-old Shraddha Vijay Raghavan, who runs her innovative app 'Grandma's Magic:Heal@Home.'

The app won first prize in the recently concluded National Science Exhibition 23-24 conducted by Kendriya Vidyalaya.

Now in Class 9 at Kendriya Vidyalaya, Indian Institute of Science (IISc) campus, Shraddha was inspired by her grandfather V Babu Satyan, a metallurgist.

Shraddha said as a child she used to fall sick frequently and had to remain indoors. However, this led to an innovative idea that not only helped her, but also others to have easy access to healthcare. "It's a platform where users can share their home remedies and access remedies listed by others. One can cure themselves of basic ailments at home without visiting clinics," she added.

On the credibility of home remedies, Shraddha said she has five doctors in Bengaluru to approve them before they are uploaded on the app. She guarantees no side effects from her home remedies.

The turnaround time for approval is one day and works on a rating system. So if individuals think the remedy works, they give it a good rating, she said.

Grandma's Magic has over 200 home remedies and 600 downloads on PlayStore. According to analytics, around 60-100 individuals visit the app every day.

"The app also has an AI-based chatbot that will allow you to find remedies easily and tell you which one you should try based on what symptoms you have," Shraddha said.

An aspiring botanist, who has over 150 plant species in her backyard, Shraddha is also working on a prototype to help address air pollution. "Vayuputra, the device, turns polluted air into a fertilizer. It can be mounted atop traffic signals, industrial chimneys and such other places. I used the Bernoulli theorem to develop it. The device creates a vacuum and sucks in the polluted air around it. The polluted air then undergoes a chemical process and releases oxygen-rich air, including a byproduct as fertilizer that can be used in agriculture," she said.

Shraddha said as a child she suffered from respiratory diseases which inspired her to develop Vayuputra. "I want to get a patent for this device and improve the prototype to be accurate. I hope to tie-up with the government or any private organisation to mass produce it one day," Shraddha said.

The young innovator recently presented her science project at "Pariksha Pe Charcha" held in New Delhi on January 29. Prime Minister Narendra Modi lauded her efforts.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

07TH February: Following the daily ebb and flow of time from last week, we are moving from a lively, emotional, chaotic period, to one which is more stable, secure and respectful towards tradition and authority. It's time to listen to experience, wisdom and our elders and betters.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
As long as Mars is stirring up your emotions you are liable to fly off the handle, which is a shame considering how well disposed people are to your plans. Let me reiterate the same advice I have given several times in recent weeks: always consult partners and discuss your plans fully before going ahead.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Day by day there is little change in your romantic situation, so in a sense the same advice holds good for the whole week: keep a close watch on your finances, moving with care to put yourself in an unassailable position. If you're handling children today, be warned - nothing can convince them they're not right.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
According to the new psycho-logical under-standing of astrology, our happiness is dependent on our inner state of being rather than on external events. Therefore, judging from the condition of your planets, this has to be a most enjoyable and profitable period, though only if you indulge your nostalgia for the past.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
The mysterious twelfth house of your solar chart is still the focus of attention, and there may be far too much going on behind closed doors for you to feel at ease. On the other hand, you are quite capable of looking after yourself. Today is a day to press on with important jobs regardless of short-term pressures.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Yet again, thanks to new lunar patterns, your stars are vibrant, vivacious and full of life. The long-term effects of your current solar alignments are unlikely to be clear for some time, but will eventually result in an encouraging sense that your life's goals are indeed within reach.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
The Moon is now releasing you from certain of the unsettling domestic tensions which have added complications to your worldly ambitions. In spite of everything, this is a time which you will look back on with pride. What's best about today is that your serious Virgoan qualities are in fashion.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Such is your reputation, nobody ever expects you to go on the attack, lay down the law or drive a hard bargain. Yet this is exactly what you will be doing now that Mars, that most bellige-rent of planets, is arousing your worldly desires and professional ambitions. Friends will be surprised - even astonished.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
A deeper look at the current planetary pattern suggests that this is a time to go all out to prove your determination and true worth. It is the value you place on yourself, not on material accomplishments, which really counts. Both a job offer and increase in your earnings are on the cards over the next two weeks.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Sometimes even you have to back down and take the initiative in diffusing highly-charged situations. Please realise that you have far more to gain from other people than they do from you, and act accordingly. While life is running your way, you can afford to lower your guard and make peace with rivals and foes alike.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Some would say that this simply has to be the perfect moment to put on a show of strength and demonstrate your mettle. But be cautious, for Mars, in a profound alignment with your sign, indicates that in order to succeed, your strategy must be foolproof. In love, you must be prepared to pay whatever it takes to make a dream come true.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
This particular phase in your life is a highly creative one. Unfortunately the artistic lifestyle is not highly valued by our society, but if you are to avoid a future of frustration, you must break out and forge your own independent path. This is a particularly sociable day when even at work you'll do best as part of a team.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
The one item of variety in the astrological scene today is provided by the Moon, giving you the chance to take time out from your usual routine and follow up one or two useful social contacts. Recent opposition from partners will now begin to die down, partly because they are less sure of their ground.

HUSBAND IS MAIN ACCUSED IN NETHRA MURDER CASE: POLICE

Chandrappa allegedly suspected wife's fidelity

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Nethra murder case has taken a new twist with material and corroborative evidence revealing that the main accused is her husband Chandrappa, 53.

Nethra, 40, a resident of Justice Bheemaiah Layout, was murdered on February 2. After the murder, Nethra's 17-year-old son surrendered before the KR Puram police claiming that he had murdered her for not preparing breakfast.

Aware of the minimal punishment for juveniles, the minor son convinced his father of taking the blame on himself. He also convinced his father that the government would take care of his education till he served his sentence.

Nethra's brother Ashwatha Narayana suspected the involvement of Chandrappa, a farmer, in the murder case.

Suspecting Nethra's fidelity, Chandrappa allegedly murdered her by hitting her head with an iron rod. Later, his son came forward to help him knowing that the punishment for juveniles will be less in such cases.

However, fingerprints of two persons found on the iron rod resulted in the arrest of Chandrappa. After the death of the victim, even her son hit her head with the rod to mislead the police.

Chandrappa and his son have been arrested. The victim was a housekeeper in a private company

B Dayananda, Bengaluru City Police Commissioner

Fingerprint clue

The police, who recovered the iron rod, sent it to the forensic science laboratory (FSL). In its report, the FSL stated that fingerprints of two persons were on the weapon. Based on this finding, the police interrogated Chandrappa, who confessed to the crime.

Chandrappa, an alcoholic, suspected his wife of having an illicit affair. She used to be away from home and their children had to suffer without food, the police said quoting his statement.

"Chandrappa and his son have been arrested. The victim was a housekeeper in a private company," Police Commissioner B Dayananda told reporters.

Classes 8, 9 students ragged for 20 days in Koppal

AMIT S UPADHYE @ Koppal

IN a horrific case of ragging, 15 students suffered injuries after their seniors tortured them, beat them up, made them do homework, projects, clean floors and more, for over 20 days. The incident took place at Morarji Desai Residential Located in Hemagudda village of Gangavati taluk in Koppal district.

Three students who suffered injuries are being treated at a government hospital in Koppal. Doctors say the students have injuries on their private parts and are in a state of shock.

As per the statement of the victims, a group of eight SSLC students ragged the students from Classes 8 and 9.

The brutal incident came to light after a few students informed their parents on Monday. Senior officials of the Koppal district administration rushed to the hostel and took statements of the students. Some students alleged that the hostel warden was alerted about the brutality being suffered by some of the junior students, but the pleas were ignored.

The district administration has asked the Social Welfare Department to submit a report in this regard. The Koppal police said that so far, no case has been reported or lodged by any of the parents. "We have spoken to the victims and have also inquired about the students who are accused of ragging. Some parents wanted to book a case against the officials for the incident. However, no case has been filed so far. Senior police officials have sought a report about the incident which will be submitted soon," said a police officer from Gangavati.

The parents of the victims are angry with the management. Some parents took their wards back home soon after the incident.

"The victims have named all the eight SSLC students who were involved in ragging. Despite knowing it's a crime, the students have committed it. The parents of the accused students are requesting us not to file any complaints. But how can we be quiet after seeing our wards suffer? We are planning to file a case against the hostel administration for the lapse. We also need written statements from the accused students that they will let the junior students concentrate on their studies and not be ragged," said a parent of one of the victims.

A total of 246 students study at the school, including those from various districts of Kalyana Karnataka. Senior police officers visited the school premises for investigation.

NIA chargesheets 12 Bangladeshis in trafficking case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE National Investigation Agency (NIA) has charge-sheeted 12 Bangladeshi nationals in a massive human trafficking case, involving infiltration and trafficking of foreign nationals into India via the India-Bangladesh border.

The accused are Ferdous Bapari, Muhammed Oli Ullah, Amol Das, Masud Sarder, Sohag Gazi, Suman Shaik, Md Bellal, Md Mirazul Islam, Zakir Khan, Md Badal Houladar, Md Kabir Talukder, Gharami Mohamad Bashir Hosen, and Saudi Zakir. They had also entered India illegally, without valid travel documents, and had fraudulently obtained Indian identity documents, the NIA stated in an official release on Tuesday.

NIA investigations have revealed that these men were "trafficked through porous Indo-Bangla border points in Benapole and Jashore near West Bengal, and Akhaura near Tripura, with the help of touts operating on both sides of the border".

Eight of them had subsequently also been involved in the trafficking of several other Bangladeshi nationals similarly. A total of 22 such victims of the accused have been identified so far by the agency, which has further found that the victims were lured into India on false promises of jobs and a better livelihood.

"The victims had paid the touts along the border for crossing into India and were directed to reach Bengaluru. Once they landed in the trafficker's waste segregation godowns in the southern city, they were subjected to forced labour for meager wages and were confined in various sheds built especially for the purpose. Those who protested were threatened by the traffickers of landing in prison on account of being illegal migrants," the agency added. NIA's earlier searches on the premises of the 12 charge-sheeted men and the two, absconding accused - Mohammed Sahajlal Haldar and Idrish - had led to the seizure of 61 Aadhaar cards along with other Indian identity documents obtained fraudulently. "The investigations to uncover the modus operandi for procuring Indian identity documents are ongoing. The hunt for the absconding accused is also in progress," stated the NIA.

Novel approach for early detection of Parkinson's disease

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A study conducted by MedGenome, a genomics company in South Asia, along with Parkinson's Research Alliance of India (PRAI), has found that the rare genetic variations along with common variants derived through polygenic risk score (PRS) can detect Young Onset of Parkinson's Disease (YOPD).

This is the first of a kind study conducted in the country aimed to initiate a population-based genetic analysis of YOPD. Over 1,000 patients from across the country were part of the study.

The report was published in the July 2022 edition of the Advanced Biology journal with 100 whole genomes of Parkinson's Disease patients. The new study validates the knowledge along with the new findings on the genetics of Parkinson's disease, published in the Movement Disorders.

The research paper investigates genetic variations associated with YOPD in the Indian population. The study validates existing findings from European populations and identifies major genetic mutations in the genes.

Researchers said, in the study, they aggregated the common genetic variations into a polygenic risk score (PD- PRS), introducing a genetic screening test for assessing the risk of developing Parkinson's disease. This comprehensive analysis of rare and common genetic variations in YOPD in the Indian population enhanced the understanding of the genetic basis of Parkinson's disease and introduced a novel genetic screening approach.

Prof Rupam Borgohain, secretary, PRAI, said, "Parkinson's disease is a common neurological disorder causing tremors, slowness of movements, stiffness and walking difficulties in most. It is caused by a complex interaction between external environmental and familial or genetic factors. Based on the initiative of Dr Prashanth LK, specialist in movement disorders, Parkinson's disease and movement disorders clinic, Bengaluru, a first of its kind - India wide registry of YOPD (disease starting at age less than 50) was started by PRAI and resulted in insights into clinical and genetic aspects of Indian patients. Parkinson's disease with onset less than 20 years, 20-40 years and 40-50 years has different clinical features. The role of genetic factors seems to be higher in these patients compared to older age and this collaborative project has identified unique genetic fingerprints in Indian patients."

Dr Vedam Ramprasad, CEO, MedGenome said, with increased focus on personalised medicine, using risk screening tools such as Polygenic Risk Score (PRS) will enable to predict an individual's genetic liability to rare and inherited diseases much in advance before the symptoms start appearing.

'BHARAT' RICE AT ₹29/KG NOW IN K'TAKA

To be available at Kendriya Bhandar, NAFED, and NCCF outlets, and will be expanded to ecommerce platforms too

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Centre's 'Bharat' brand of rice sold at a subsidised price of Rs 29/kg will now be available in Karnataka. On Tuesday, former chief minister BS Yediyurappa launched the sale of the 'Bharat' brand of rice in the state.

'Bharat' Rice will be available at all physical and mobile outlets of Kendriya Bhandar, National Agricultural Cooperative Marketing Federation of India (NAFED), and National Cooperative Consumers' Federation of India (NCCF) from Tuesday, and will be expanded to other retail outlets and ecommerce platforms, said a statement issued by the Centre. The launch of retail sales of 'Bharat' Rice will increase supplies in the market at affordable rates and will help in the continued moderation of prices of food items, the release said.

Congress came to power in the state by making a false promise of providing 10 kg of rice to each person from BPL families, but the Congress government has not been able to provide even a single gram of rice apart from what is being provided by the Centre - BS Yediyurappa

The 'Bharat' brand of rice will be sold in 5 kg and 10 kg packs.

While addressing the launch event, the former CM said Bharat Dal (Chana Dal) at Rs 60/kg, Bharat Atta at Rs 27.50/kg, and Moong Dal at Rs 90/kg are already being made available under the Bharat brand, at a subsidised price. Now, good-quality rice is being sold at Rs 29/kg, which will help middle and lower-income people, he said.

"Congress came to power in the state by making a false promise of providing 10 kg of rice to each person from BPL families, but the Congress government has not been able to provide even a single gram of rice apart from what is being provided by the Centre," the senior BJP leader said.

Farmers stage protest demanding loan waiver, compensation

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

FARMERS on Tuesday staged a protest at Freedom Park in Bengaluru, demanding farm loan waiver and compensation for crop loss due to drought.

They urged Chief Minister Siddaramaiah to give Rs 25,000 per acre as compensation to farmers, since the government released Cauvery water to Tamil Nadu and not to farmers in the state, when they were suffering from the drought.

Members of the State Sugarcane Growers Association and Green Birds staged the protest under the leadership of Karnataka Sugarcane Growers Association president Kurubur Shanthakumar. The Fair and Remunerative Price (FRP) of sugarcane should be changed to that of the rate fixed in the farmers' fields. The sugar factories have already reduced sugarcane harvest and transportation rates, and excess money deducted from farmers should be returned to them, they urged.

They urged the state government to announce an insurance scheme along the lines of a scheme in Telangana to provide Rs 5 lakh cover to everyone.

The state government should open centres at the hobli level to procure agricultural produce from farmers and remove the limit on procurement, the farmers urged the CM. They also demanded the government to change agricultural credit policy and all nationalised banks should provide interest-free loans.

They also appealed to the CM to provide more funds for the agriculture sector and implement schemes for farmer uplift. Meanwhile, BJP workers staged a protest demanding the state government to provide incentives to dairy farmers. The party leaders said if the government continues to neglect farmers, they will stage a protest near Vidhana Soudha.

BJP to protest today against govt 'failures'

BENGALURU: Karnataka BJP leaders will stage a protest on Wednesday against the government for misleading people and failing to govern the State, at Vidhana Soudha. BJP State President BY Vijayendra, Leader of Opposition in the Assembly R Ashoka, Leader of Opposition in the Council Kota Srinivas Poojary and other BJP legislators will take part in the dharna near Gandhi statue. Poojary told TNIE that the State government has diverted Rs 11,500 crore that was to be given to SC/ST community members, to guarantee schemes. The government has failed to provide compensation to farmers. They are also anti-Hindu and the recent flag incident at Keregodu in Mandya reveals their feelings, he said. "The State government has miserably failed in governance and to deliver justice to the people. Instead, they are going to Delhi to protest, which is nothing but drama," he said. "We are opposing this by staging a protest. We will fight this," he added. ENS

REAFFIRMATION?

Not mad to rejoin BJP, says Savadi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Belagavi

STATING that he and former chief minister Jagadish Shettar -- who recently returned to the BJP -- were different kinds of leaders whose ideals and objectives were different too, former DCM Laxman Savadi said he was "not mad to join the BJP again". Reacting to BJP leaders' recent statement that former CM Shettar has the BJP DNA, Savadi said he has his father's DNA and would never rejoin the BJP.

Savadi told the media in New Delhi on Monday that he would never return to the BJP as he had been insulted by saffron party leaders, and said he was not so mad to rejoin the party.

Commenting on banners without Congress party symbols, which had been displayed in various parts of Belagavi to wish him on his birthday, Savadi said he never celebrated his birthday but several of his followers put up banners despite his appeal to them not to do so. He said if the party symbol was not on the banner, there shouldn't be any unwarranted speculation.

On the Congress party's protest against the Centre in New Delhi on Wednesday, he said the Centre was not releasing funds which the state deserved to get. A state should be given funds when it was facing several crises, he said, adding that a discussion should be held on the total GST collection from Karnataka. Savadi said he would question Karnataka MPs whether they had won their seats from Gujarat or Karnataka.

After Shettar's departure, Cong looks for strong candidate for Belagavi

ENS @ Belagavi

THE return of former CM Jagadish Shettar to the BJP fold has bolstered the prospects of sitting Belagavi MP Mangala Angadi and her daughter Shraddha Shettar (Shettar's daughter-in-law) as one of them is certain to emerge as the party's consensus candidate for Belagavi Lok Sabha constituency in the general election.

On the other hand, Shettar's return to the BJP has triggered a debate in the Congress, which is under pressure to field a candidate with 'winnability'. Sources said the party will now depend on the Jarkiholis or Hebbalkars to take on the strong opponent. A member from one of the two politically influential families may be fielded, sources added.

When Shettar was with the Congress, the party leadership had been exploring the possibility of fielding one of its leaders, like Supreme Court senior advocate Mohan Katarki, youth leaders Kiran Sadhunavar, Dr Girish Sonwalkar and Vinay Navalgatti. Sources said with an Angadi family member set to become the BJP's choice, the Congress may change its strategy.

The indication given by Women and Child Development Minister Laxmi Hebbalkar on Sunday in Belagavi that her son Mrinal could be the candidate, as many of her supporters are keen to see him contest the coming polls, has stirred up a hornet's nest. A prospective candidate said "the party is yet to conduct its internal survey on who should be the candidate for Belagavi. It is too early to speculate on this issue. The party high command will take a final call only after survey reports".

A few weeks ago, PWD Minister Satish Jarkiholi had made it clear that no member of his or the Hebbalkar family would contest the polls. He had said the party may choose a candidate from the Lingayat community for Belagavi, and a Kuruba community leader for Chikkodi LS constituency.

For a long time now, many Congress leaders had been rallying behind the party's youth leader and Jarkiholi's daughter Priyanka as the candidate from Belagavi.

Jarkiholi had been against it until now, but whether he will change his stance in the wake of the changing political scenario is something one has to wait and see.

Need reservoir to address water woes: Deve Gowda to Centre

NEW DELHI: JDS supremo HD Deve Gowda on Tuesday requested PM Narendra Modi to help resolve Karnataka's water crisis by building a reservoir with a capacity of 30,000 million cubic feet. Participating in a discussion on the motion of thanks to the President's address, the former PM also requested Modi to include the state's Kadugolla community in the list of Scheduled Tribes. Gowda said he had taken up the matter with Modi during their first interaction in the new Parliament building. He said the prime minister had assured him that it would be cleared. In his address, the JDS supremo also flayed the Congress government in the state, accusing it of spending money on "unproductive" guarantees for short-term gains. ENS

Remarks by Preetham, Prajwal over Hassan seat leave workers in fix

BR UDAYA KUMAR @ Hassan

CONTRADICTORY statements made by Hassan sitting JDS MP Prajwal Revanna and BJP state general secretary Preetham J Gowda, over the probable NDA candidate for the said parliamentary seat, continue to emerge, leaving party workers in a dilemma.

According to Preetham, the NDA is yet to finish its candidate list for the Hassan parliamentary seat. The BJP leaders and workers are demanding that Hassan and Mandya parliamentary seats be with the party. The BJP could probably get both the seats in a changed political scenario in future, he added.

However, Prajwal has a different take on the matter. He has often maintained, albeit indirectly, that he will be the candidate in Hassan and has already toured all the Assembly segments in the region, following directions of his grandfather and JDS supremo HD Deve Gowda. Prajwal also stated that the seniors will decide over the ticket issue soon, and he will not give importance to statements made by any particular leader from the BJP. Many BJP leaders also are supporting him in this regard.

Interestingly, no senior BJP leader in the district is serious about the alliance or candidature so far. Taking exception to the statements of Prajwal that the BJP workers are supporting him, former Hassan City BJP president Venugopal said the BJP workers never support or work for any candidate until their senior leaders officially announce who the NDA candidate will be. The high command will finalise the candidate after discussing it with BJP state general secretary Preetham J Gowda and MLAs HK Suresh and Cement Manju, in this regard.

Preetham J Gowda and Prajwal Revanna

Prajwal on Tuesday that the senior leaders from both the parties will finalise the candidate, and the leaders and workers in both the parties will work for the chosen candidate, with the aim to bring Narendra Modi back as the prime minister for a third term. When asked, Preetham said the BJP leaders should take local leaders and workers into confidence, before declaring the candidate. He also hoped that the BJP candidate would be the NDA alliance candidate for Hassan and Mandya, he added. However, the BJP and JDS workers remain in a dilemma over the candidature.

Trial court refers pvt plaint against DKS to police for probe

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IN fresh trouble to Deputy Chief Minister and KPCC president DK Shivakumar and state Congress social media head BR Naidu, the trial court to try cases against sitting and former MPs/MLAs in the city referred a private complaint against them to the High Grounds police station for investigation.

"This complaint is referred to Station House Officer of High Grounds police station, Bengaluru, under Section 156(3) of CrPC for investigation and submit report by March 30, 2024," Judge Preeth J stated in the order passed on Tuesday. The private complaint was filed by Yogendra Hodaghatta, state convenor of the BJP legal cell, alleging that the accused had posted the photos of morphed faces of BJP state president BY Vijayendra, other leaders KS Eshwarappa, Pratap Simha, C T Ravi and Sunil Kumar holding a placard with a concocted, false and fabricated statement on the official Facebook page of the Congress, promoting enmity between different classes and instigating them against the BJP besides maligning the image of those leaders.

These posts were uploaded after a series of protests over the arrest of Hindu activist Srikanth Poojary by the Hubballi police in January 2024, that too after 31 years after a case was filed against him in connection with the 1992 riots in the lead-up to the Babri Masjid demolition, few weeks before the much-anticipated grand opening of the Lord Rama temple in Ayodhya. Despite knowing that those derogatory posts disturb the peace and harmony and also tarnish the image of the leaders, the accused were persistently making such accusations without any basis, the complainant alleged.

Now, midday meals will include ragi malt for nutrition of schoolchildren

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Mysuru

THE Karnataka government has decided to introduce ragi malt once in 10 days for schoolchildren under the midday meal programme. It is already giving the children two eggs a week and milk to address malnourishment.

Primary and Secondary Education Minister Madhu Bangarappa said this will benefit more than 1 crore children studying in government and aided schools. The ragi malt packets have been tested and certified by the Central Food Technological Research Institute.

"The government is spending ₹160 crore to provide extra eggs to schoolchildren. The education department has decided to seek assistance from corporates under their Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) arm to improve facilities and meet additional expenditure in government schools," Bangarappa added.

He said the government has decided to open 500 Karnataka Public Schools within a year, and 3,000 schools in the next five years as there is a demand for such schools at the panchayat level.

Bangarappa said the government will give free power and drinking water to all schools which will enable them to use computers, set up laboratories and also run NEET coaching centres.

He said the state has suffered due to disparity in the release of funds under Sarva Shiksha Abhiyan. "Though each student will be given ₹5,400 under Sarva Shiksha Abhiyan, students from Karnataka are paid a meagre ₹2,400. The state is yet to receive ₹1,700 crore in arrears. The Centre has not responded even after writing several letters. Union Minister Dharmendra Pradhan is not giving us time to discuss the issue," he said.

BJP GOVT HAD FIXED EXAM FEE, SAYS MINISTER MADHU

Criticising former CM H D Kumaraswamy for blaming the government for collecting ₹50 as examination fee from students, Madhu Bangarappa said the previous government had fixed a fee of ₹60, which was reduced to ₹50. He also lashed out at writer Chakravarthy Sulibele for spreading hatred by stating that the examination timetable has been changed to facilitate Muslim students to attend Friday prayers. He said the change was made as PU exams start on Friday.

"HAD she been made a party in her official capacity, arguably that could not have been faltered. This court deprecates the practice of arraigning officials in their personal capacity. Permitting their arraignment as such will have a demoralising effect on the administration of law and order. Public servants should be allowed to discharge their duty without fear or favour," said Justice Krishna S Dixit while dismissing the petitions filed by the accused.

The court noted that the police filed the chargesheet under Section 143 of IPC and Section 103 of the KP Act... In view of this, the police action cannot be faltered in these proceedings. Hence, the case pending before the trial court cannot be interdicted. The police contended that they had instructed the protesters not to assemble on the public road. However, according to police, their instruction was disobeyed and the accused disrupted traffic there. They created law and order problems too... the high court said.

On the contention that the petitioners are ministers/elected representatives, the court said, "'Howsoever high thou art be, law is above you', goes the saying." There is no extraordinary circumstance that warrants this court leaving the beaten track. It is open to them to appear before the magistrate and seek discharge, it added. The accused had appealed before the high court to quash the FIR based on a complaint filed on April 14, 2022, and the chargesheet filed on February 12, 2023, and all further proceedings pending before the magistrate. A group led by the accused took out a procession from Madhavanagar around 12.30 pm, to stage a protest in front of the official residence of the then CM Basavaraj Bommai, seeking the resignation of the then minister KS Eshwarappa over the suicide by a contractor.

Stalin: Union govt's refusal to extend compensation aimed at crippling states' ability to raise resources, fund crucial devpt

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Chennai

CHIEF MINISTER MK Stalin on Tuesday extended full support to his Kerala counterpart Pinarayi Vijayan on preserving fiscal federalism and accused the Union government of restricting states' borrowing capacity by misusing its powers under Article 293 of the Constitution. Prior consent from the Union government, mandated under this statute, has been converted into a restrictive tool to limit deficit financing beyond the limits prescribed by the State Fiscal Responsibility and Budget Management Act, Stalin said. "The fundamental principle of fiscal federalism envisioned by the Constitution makers is under grave threat," the CM said in his letter to Vijayan.

The CM also extended his full support to the Kerala government's suit before the Supreme Court in the matter. Responding to Pinarayi Vijayan's letter to him by Kerala Industries Minister P Rajeev, Stalin said the DMK would take part in the agitation to be staged by Kerala ministers and legislators in New Delhi on February 8.

Stalin said his West Bengal counterpart Mamata Banerjee and Vijayan have been raising their voices for the Constitution and federalism. "Our voice will not rest until we win state autonomy. The fascist BJP cannot thwart our lifeline demand of state autonomy. The rights of states on finance, administration, and other sectors will be established. The time for this is ripening," Stalin said. Within a few hours of Stalin sharing the details on a post in Malayalam on 'X' (formerly Twitter), Vijayan thanked the CM. He said, "Salutes to Thiru MK Stalin and the DMK for extending solidarity and support for Kerala's protest on February 8 at Delhi against the centre's discrimination towards states' functioning and fiscal autonomy. This gesture boosts our efforts to stand up and resist the vicious efforts to undermine the federal principles enshrined in our Constitution. Together, let's march forward to protect our democracy and constitutional values."

I stand in full support of Kerala's commitment to preserving fiscal federalism. The government of Tamil Nadu is ready to extend its cooperation and we look forward to collaborating

MK Stalin, Tamil Nadu Chief Minister

"I stand in full support of Kerala's commitment to preserving fiscal federalism. The Government of Tamil Nadu is ready to extend its cooperation and we look forward to collaborating and synchronising our efforts to address this crucial challenge," Stalin said in his response to the letter of Vijayan.

Coming down heavily on the Union government's 'arbitrary and discriminatory control over deficit financing,' Stalin said, "Although this has been happening for quite some time, the situation has rapidly deteriorated over the last few years and there is a clear consensus emerging among progressive state governments that such indirect control over state finances needs to be done away with." He also recalled how Tamil Nadu has been affected by the GOI's conditions on mobilisation of funds.

He said for the year 2023-24, the GOI has fixed the GSDP growth for calculating the net borrowing ceiling at a mere 8%, despite the state consistently achieving around 15% nominal growth in the last two years. This has resulted in a loss of Rs 6,000 crore in borrowing limit for the current year. "The intent seems to be aimed at crippling states' ability to raise resources and fund crucial developmental initiatives as per their policy priorities. This needs to be resisted by like-minded progressive states," Stalin said.

1st set of Olive Ridley hatchlings released

SUBHASH CHANDRA NS
@Devbagh

THE breeding season of Olive Ridley turtles has commenced with the Karnataka Forest officials already finding a good number of nests along the Uttara Kannada coastline. And to add to the joy, officials opine that the number of nests could increase in the coming days.

"We have already found 26 nests and the number is likely to go up in the coming days. This is just the beginning. There is still a long way to go. The breeding season will continue till the commencement of the south-west monsoon," Pramod, RFO, marine and coastal eco-system wing, told TNIE.

He said that in 2023, the department found 44 nests. This year, the nests have been found in Devbagh and Bawla near Majali in Karwar taluk, and Bavikere, Manjunguni, and Harwada in Ankola taluk. Among them, Devbagh has so far recorded the highest number of nests. "We have found 12 nests in Devbagh. We are expecting to find more," said Pramod. Most of these nests have been found by the residents.

"Eighteen nests have been found by the locals. We are involving them in conservation. For each nest they find, we give them an incentive of Rs 1,000," said C Ravi Shankar, Deputy Conservator of Forests, Karwar. He also released the hatchlings into the Arabian Sea in Devbagh on Tuesday. The department on Tuesday released 43 hatchlings of the total 95 eggs recovered.

The Olive Ridley turtle is protected under the Schedule 1 of the Wildlife Act. The Forest Department has initiated an awareness programme to protect the species.

Red logs smugglers' car mows down constable on duty in AP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Tirupati

RED Sander smugglers reportedly killed an Armed Reserve constable, by mowing him down with their vehicle, when he tried to stop them. The incident took place at Gundravaripalli cross in KV Palle Mandal of Annamayya district on Tuesday. The deceased Red Sanders Anti-Smuggling Task Force (RSASTF) AR constable was identified as Ganesh (30).

According to RSASTF SP P Srinivas, a team led by RSI Viswanath conducted vehicular checks at KV Palle-Sundupalle forest. Around 3am, the team tried to stop a speeding car bearing Karnataka registration number and carrying red sanders logs. However, the car swerved to the right to escape and hit Ganesh, injuring him critically. The constable was rushed to Pileru government hospital, where he breathed his last.

The Task Force personnel managed to apprehend two smugglers hailing from Tamil Nadu, however, the third individual evaded capture and disappeared into the darkness.

Subsequently, the task force successfully seized the vehicle and confiscated seven red sanders logs valued at approximately ₹40 lakh in the international market. Tirupati SP Srinivasulu and Annamayya District SP B Krishna Rao inspected the scene.

Ganesh, was a 2013 batch AR constable and was recently deputed to RSASTF. A native of Puttaparthi village in Sathya Sai district, Ganesh was survived by wife Anusha and two children—Raj Kishore (6) and Vedansh (3). Ganesh had recently earned appreciation letters for his work during the Independence Day and Republic Day celebrations. Chief Minister Jagan Mohan Reddy expressed his condolences and announced an ex-gratia of ₹30 lakh for Ganesh's family, the sources informed.

Meanwhile, TDP Pileru spokesperson Nallari Kishore Kumar Reddy raised concerns over the death of the AR constable. He allegedly criticised the government for disarming the task force combating smuggling and questioned the government's commitment in apprehending those responsible for Ganesh's death.

'Blind period' in NASA forest fire data a worry

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

NO technological interventions are perfect, and there are always some grey areas. This is true of satellite images and data accessed by the Karnataka Forest Department to manage forest fires.

Along with strengthening ground staff by hiring more contract employees for forest fire management, the department has also been relying on technological interventions.

It takes images for alerts from satellites of National Aeronautics Space Agency (NASA) of the United States and Europe. But no satellite imagery and data are available from 3.30am to 10.30am, and from 3.30pm to 10.30pm. The forest department calls it the 'blind period'.

"There is no satellite data on forest fires for almost 14 hours a day. This is crucial. To address this, we are requesting governments and space research agencies for help, especially now as it is a drought period and there is an early onset of summer. The available detection window is from 1am to 3.30am, 1pm to 3.30pm, 10.30pm to 11.30am and from 10.30pm to 11.30pm. During the blind period, we rely completely on ground staff," said a senior official from the fire detection and management wing of the forest department.

From January 1 to February 1, the forest department received 1,491 alerts, of which 936 were fire incidents and the remaining were creation of fire lines (controlled burning).

"Since we are expecting more incidents of forest fire this year, we are working on moisture stress analysis. Satellite images are being used to prepare normalised density vegetation index. The moisture content in the air and grass is assessed and compared with data of last week and even last year, using satellite images. Based on this data, ground weather reports are included in the assessment, after which a list of vulnerable locations is prepared. This data is also helping in the creation of fire lines," said Additional Principal Chief Conservator of Forests Bishwajit Mishra. This year, the department is also assessing fires in 500m buffer areas of forests. "We are using this information as there are chances of fires spreading inside forests. Ground staffers are given alerts to check, douse, and submit a report on the server," Mishra said.

Not yet summer, Kerala sweats under blazing sun

MANOJ VISWANATHAN @Kochi

IT is only the first week of February, but Kerala is reeling under a scorching sun. With meteorologists finding no possibility of rain for the next couple of weeks, Kerala is bracing for the hottest summer in a decade. Meanwhile, power consumption has started soaring, forcing the KSEB to purchase an additional 9 million units (MU) per day from the real-time market at a high rate.

The state recorded a departure of 1.5 -3 degrees Celsius in daytime temperature during the past week. The scorching sun coupled with high humidity has left the state sweating. On Tuesday, Kannur recorded the highest temperature of 37.9 degrees Celsius followed by Thiruvananthapuram city, which recorded 36.2 degrees Celsius.

Weather experts attributed the unusual rise in temperature to El Nino, which is at its peak. (El Nino is a climate pattern that leads to unusual warming of the Ocean waters which can impact trade winds and atmospheric temperature. As the warm ocean releases excess heat into the atmosphere, the temperature rises).

"The temperature has been hovering above normal, but we can't say it is an indicator of a scorching summer," said India Meteorological Department (IMD) senior scientist V K Mini.

"Thiruvananthapuram city set a record for January when the mercury touched 36.2 degrees Celsius on January 27. Minicoy in Lakshadweep set a record with 33.9 degrees Celsius on January 3, which is one degree higher than the previous record for the month," she said. "The next couple of days could be unusually warm and the heat index will be high in the plains," said S Abhilash, director of Advanced Centre for Atmospheric Radar Research, Cusat.

"The wind pattern induced by El Nino is unfavourable and the temperature has been soaring globally. The sea surface temperature of the southeast Arabian Sea, close to the Kerala coast, has risen by 1 to 1.5 degrees Celsius, which can be one of the reasons contributing to the hot conditions prevailing in Kerala. But we can't say it is an indicator of a drought. According to experts, El Nino will wane by April. So there is no chance of it adversely affecting the monsoon," he said.

Peddapalli MP dumps BRS for Cong

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Hyderabad

IN yet another setback to the Opposition BRS, Peddapalli (SC reserved constituency) MP Borlakunta Venkatesh Neta joined the ruling Congress in the presence of AICC general secretary KC Venugopal on Tuesday, barely months ahead of the Lok Sabha elections.

Recently, former deputy chief minister Tatikonda Rajaiah resigned from the primary membership of the BRS. In an official statement, the Chief Minister's Office conveyed Venkatesh Neta's dissatisfaction with the "uncooperative attitude" of BRS supremo K Chandrasekhar Rao and his son KT Rama Rao, who is also the working president of the pink party.

Congress sources said that multiple legislators of the BRS—MLCs, MLAs and MPs—are in touch with the grand old party and poised to follow Venkatesh Neta into the grand old party soon. Additionally, the sources said a former minister in the BRS government will likely join the Congress ranks "very soon" to contest the upcoming Lok Sabha elections.

With the electoral battleground looming, the Congress is eyeing leaders from both the BRS and the BJP, setting off speculations regarding the potential defectors and the impact they could have on the political landscape.

Several BRS MLAs recently visited the chief minister's residence. While they vehemently denied that they planned to defect, the meeting indicated that BRS leaders are exploring political alternatives. A senior Congress leader said that as many as 26 leaders, both MLAs and MPs, are in touch with them.

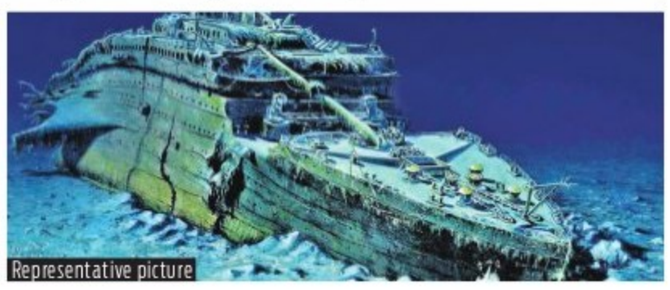
Scuba drivers spot mystery shipwreck at Varkala

SHAINU MOHAN @T'Puram

A regular fun scuba diving expedition off Varkala has turned out to be a thrilling and memorable experience for a group of divers. Little did they expect that their marine exploration trip would lead them to the discovery of a shipwreck. The mystery shipwreck discovered 10km offshore of Nedunganda Beach, located between Varkala and Anchuthengu, is expected to transform Varkala into a sought-after international destination for scuba diving. Efforts are on to unravel the history of the sunken-wrecked ship, which is lying 45m deep in the sea.

Multiple assumptions are doing the rounds about the story of the sunken ship. Some believe it could be a British cargo ship that was torpedoed by Japanese submarines during World War II. Another assumption is that it is the wreckage of a Dutch ship that was sunk centuries ago.

A team of three divers from Varkala Watersports, a scuba diving club, had discovered the wreckage last week. "Although the divers spotted the wreckage, nothing much about it could be confirmed," said Vinod Radhakrishnan, administrator of Varkala Watersports. "We have around eight diving sites at Varkala and the discovery was unexpected and unbelievable. From the preliminary examinations, the ship could be 80 or 90 years old. But all these are assumptions. A detailed scientific study should be undertaken to unravel the history of the wreck. The wreckage is so deep that only skilled divers can reach and enter it," he said. The discovery has opened new avenues of tourism at Varkala. According to tourism department authorities, the news could draw adventurers and divers from across the globe. Chief executive officer of Kerala Adventure Tourism Promotion Society Binu Kuriakose said the department will make an effort to transform Varkala into an international scuba diving destination.



Representative picture

"We have introduced many adventure water sports activities at Varkala and the discovery of the ship wreckage has turned out to be a boon," he said.

The department has decided to conduct a detailed study of the wreckage to unravel its history so that it can be turned into a major attraction for adventure seekers. "We have many ideas as underwater experiences are trending. This could be an opportunity in terms of tourism," he added.

WORK TOGETHER TO ADDRESS SOUTHERN STATES' TAX CONCERNS

WHEN Karnataka Chief Minister Siddaramaiah leads the 'Chalo Delhi' protest at Jantar Mantar in New Delhi today to highlight the "injustice" meted out to the southern states over their share of taxes, he hopes to transform it into a 'South Tax Movement'. On this, Siddaramaiah has the support of the chief ministers of Kerala, Telangana and Tamil Nadu, who have closed ranks to claim that the southern states must preserve fiscal federalism. Kerala is due to hold a similar protest on February 8, with Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan calling on all political parties to join the fight against the Centre. Tamil Nadu CM M K Stalin has pledged support and accused the Centre of misusing its powers to "stifle" the states' development.

According to Siddaramaiah, Karnataka has lost ₹62,098 crore over the past four years, with tax devolution falling from 4.71 percent to 3.64 percent. The current tax share is formulated by the 15th Finance Commission—while all of the state GST goes to the states, the central GST is pooled by the Centre and 41 percent of it is divided among the states; this formula is periodically reviewed. Turning it into a pro-people protest, Siddaramaiah says he is raising his voice in favour of Kannadigas. The issue gathered steam after the interim budget presented last week, when Congress MP D K Suresh said the states would be forced to seek a "separate nation", leading to state-wide protests.

The friction is becoming increasingly abrasive, with the southern states complaining against the "faulty implementation" of GST. They claim that while they are big contributors to the tax kitty, they receive a disproportionately small share by way of devolution. The bulk of the tax share goes to the northern states, many of which are economic laggards that score low on growth and employment. This is looked upon as "discrimination", besides interference in the states' fiscal autonomy and efforts to raise resources and fund their welfare schemes. In defence of the Centre, Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman has said the rate of devolution is fixed and the government is only implementing the Finance Commission's recommendation without bias. She also hinted that Karnataka is not being fiscally prudent, indicating that the guarantee schemes of the Congress government are a drain on its resources. Instead of facing off, the Centre and states should work together for the benefit of the people.

SUSTAIN PROMOTION OF ODIA LANGUAGE

THE first World Odia Language Conference has not come a moment too soon. Odisha, which was declared a province on linguistic basis in 1936, will turn 100 in another 12 years. There was a general sentiment that the generational connect with the Odia language needed to be refreshed for continued proliferation and development. That is why the recent three-day language conference organised by the Naveen Patnaik government was relevant. It did not just celebrate the antiquity and evolution of Odia, it also pushed the button for the future. Over 16 sessions, it brought together 100 scholars of the language from India and abroad. More importantly, it exposed school and college students to an assemblage of writers, providing them with the all-important self-confidence that is critical for a language to sustain and evolve.

Patnaik declared his government would soon chalk out a special language policy. The government has inked a pact with Jawaharlal Nehru University to establish of a centre to offer postgraduate programmmes in Odia studies, besides promoting research. The timing of the conference was unmissable. Held just ahead of the national elections, it was viewed as a clever move by the Biju Janata Dal government to harness Odia identity and pride, which prompted the opposition to latch on to some avoidable faux pas. The conference, which drew parallels with the World Classical Tamil Conference organised by the DMK government in 2010, ticked the right boxes.

However, some areas deserve closer attention. While the new Odia University, whose sprawling campus was unveiled recently, is a move in the right direction, the state government would do well to put greater focus on Odia education in schools as well as in higher educational institutions. Most Odia departments in state universities are plagued by teacher vacancies; research must be vigorously pushed too. Promoting publishing houses, encouraging Odia magazines across districts, expanding reading habits through dedicated libraries, and reviving iconic Odia institutions that played a key role in the language movement will go a long way in affirming the government's commitment. It is easy to dismiss the conference as a political move, but there is wisdom in being optimistic. The conference should be sustained—the government must set itself a goal for 2036 and work towards it.

QUICK TAKE

LESSONS FROM A VILLAGE FAIR

A small village in West Bengal can teach us a lesson in e-waste management. The thousands of people who visit Bhanga Mela—literally, Broken Fair—in Mathurapur in southern Bengal every winter hope to buy used phones, laptops and household gadgets for a bargain. Smart phones that cost upwards of ₹15,000 in glossy city shops go for less than ₹5,000; repaired second-hand laptops can be had for less than ₹10,000. Electronic items usually fail the reuse part of the three-R mantra of waste management. The thriving fair proves not all of e-waste needs to be stripped and pulped; they can flicker on in afterlife too.

Disparate parties have often dissolved their differences to fight a ruling dispensation. But elections since 1967 have shown that opposition unity can be a mirage

OPPOSITION LINES THAT WON'T BLUR

SUGATA SRINIVASARAJU

Senior journalist and author of Strange Burdens: The politics and predicaments of Rahul Gandhi

SOURAV ROY

AMONG all those who think seriously about democracy in India and are constantly worried about how it is imperiled, there is a sadness about how opposition parties have not been able to stick together to challenge the BJP and blazing enterprise of the Narendra Modi regime.

The frustration has been palpable especially after Nitish Kumar in Bihar swung back to join the National Democratic Alliance led by the BJP. The exit of Nitish was followed by the outburst of Mamata Banerjee. Then Akhilesh Yadav unilaterally announced the number of seats he was willing to concede to the Congress party in Uttar Pradesh. If he was serious about the alliance, he would have discussed this behind closed doors. This effectively ruled out cooperation in three big states. The situation in Maharashtra, another big state, is fluid. The two big partners of the Congress there—Sharad Pawar and Uddhav Thackeray—are unsure of their support bases after their parties split.

There has also been serious confusion within the Left parties on the Congress's role in Kerala, the only state from where the communists can make a mark after West Bengal and Tripura have slid away from their control. A report claimed the communists may field Annie Raja against Rahul Gandhi in Kerala's Wayanad. In the rest of the South, the opposition can invest hope in Tamil Nadu and Andhra Pradesh. In Karnataka and Telangana, they are likely to be met with a formidable challenge. Amid this confusion that exists, in his motion of thanks to the president's address on Monday, Modi took potshots at the 'broken alignment' of opposition alliance.

In August 2023, the Congress's communication head Jairam Ramesh had said that the INDIA confluence was "conceptually different" from the United Progressive Alliance (UPA) that the Congress had earlier led. But he spoke about conceptual difference in a very narrow sense. He simply said while INDIA was a pre-poll pact, the UPA was a post-poll one. As the months passed, the real conceptual differences within the alliance unraveled.

It appeared to many regional parties that the Congress was encroaching on their trademark conceptual areas—for instance, Mandal politics (demanding a national caste census was one of its expressions) and federalism. After all, the regional parties had carved their political space at the expense of the Congress on these two aspects besides others. Now they did not want to revive the Congress to jeopardise their own survival. The smugness of the Congress and its moral condescension further irritated the allies. A trust deficit and lack of sincerity drove a deeper wedge.

After its victory in Karnataka last May, till assembly polls were held to five other legislatures in November, the Congress put alliance talks and strategy meetings in the cold storage. This was perhaps in anticipation of a better bargaining clout for seats within the alliance. When the results in December went bust for the party, it did not seem to have an alliance plan B. What had also perhaps scared the Congress was that many of its allies had openly advocated that it should only fight the seats in which they were in direct contest with the BJP in 2019. That would mean roughly 200-plus seats. This must have appeared to the party as an indirect attempt by its allies to reduce its national imprint. Leaders like Nitish had even advocated one opposition candidate in ones eat. The last nail was the second leg of Rahul Gandhi's cross-country walk, the Bharat Jodo Nyay Yatra. It made it clear to the allies that the Congress was not serious about either the alliance or the electoral game.

During the short period when the opposition alliance looked alive, if people thought they stood together for secular politics then it was a simplistic deduction. The opposition has been defined more by a negative agenda than a positive one. It was the exact mistake they made in 1971, when they wanted Indira Gandhi out—the slogan was 'Indira hatao (Remove Indira)'. The Congress had smartly turned it around to say 'Garibi hatao (Get rid of poverty)'. Modi has played a somewhat similar card. As much as the opposition has made it about his 'authoritarian' and 'narcissistic' traits, he has increasingly invoked the nation, its civilisational self-esteem and economic glory. He has made himself look like the chosen one to return the nation to an imagined golden era in the past.

The opposition has always worked on a diet of boycotts that cannot be read as conceptual unity. If one took their lip service to secularism seriously, then it was blown away when their response to the Ram temple in Ayodhya was muted. The Congress took a fortnight to arrive at a 'principled' stand against attending the consecration. If there was conceptual clarity, they would have refused the invite instantly like the communists did. Later, the Congress welcomed the nation's highest civilian award for L K Advani. This was a paradoxical position because it was Advani who had permanently shifted the secular alignment of the nation with the temple movement in 1990.

People who desire opposition unity always want the grouping to look homogenous, like the ruling party or ruling coalition. But that has never been possible, because those in power either are held together by a set of ideas, use power as a glue, or rely on both. Whenever the opposition has tried to come together, it has been a gathering of disparate ideas in a rather clumsy fashion. This was true about 1967, 1971, 1977 or 1989 polls. Socialists, communists, libertarians, federalists and the Hindu right came together in the past not because they believed in something common, but they desperately wanted to see the Congress out of power. Each time they came together, things fell apart without a centre to hold.

A little before and after the 1967 polls, there was an omnibus opposition formula advocated by socialist leader Ram Manohar Lohia. The 'Lohia line' meant that everybody, including the extreme right and the extreme left, should come together to replace the Congress in state legislatures where no single opposition party was in a position to do so. Those at the extreme ends of the ideological pole had bought into this and only temporarily blurred the lines for the sake of power.

TORTUOUS PATH TO THE MARATHA SPLIT

PRAKASH PAWAR

Professor, Shivaji University Kolhapur, and coordinator, Centre for Gandhian Studies

THE formal split in the National Congress Party that the country witnessed on Tuesday has been long in the making. It's a story of confused caste identities, canny quota calculations, evolving party politics and growing personal ambitions.

It could be said that the lurch towards the current impasse started in the 1990s. In that era, the reservation issue split poor Marathas and rich Marathas, Marathas and Kunbis, Marathas and OBCs, and Marathas and upper castes. As a power struggle broke out over cabinet positions too, the political and social factors got interlinked, resulting in further complications.

It suited the BJP well when the Maratha community was split on one count or another. Earlier, when Shashikant Pawar, Annasaheb Patil and Vinayak Mete had started the call for reservation, the BJP (then the Jana Sangh) had maintained friendly relations with them. There were four subgroups that spoke for the Marathas. But when the prospects of them coalescing as one group arose, the upper-caste base of the BJP base saw it as a threat to dominance.

On the other hand, despite supporting reservations for their community in general, the Maratha leaders themselves have not always seen eye to eye on the kind of reservation they are happy with—those like Sharad and Ajit Pawar have refrained from being very vocal in their support for the OBC tag. Whereas Manoj Jarange Patil continues to support the claim that the Marathas are Kunbis, and hence a backward caste. It did not help that Sharad Pawar, who sees himself as a mass leader commanding a wider base in the state and a national player of importance, insisted on Chaggan Bhujbal being a deputy when Ajit Pawar was in the chief minister's chair. And a crack formed, which became a chasm with the pulls and pressures of other power players.

At the back of it is the story of the Maratha community's own identity. The quota controversy has simmered—and at times boiled over—over which quota group they want to belong to. Apart from the Maratha community itself, the issue has embroiled parties, governments, caste organizations, other OBC communities, the Backward Classes Commission, courts, and the media. They have all given new shapes to the old question in the light of the day's politics.

Two important questions remain. One, socially, who are the Marathas? Two, under which quota should the Marathas be included? These two questions have continued to shape the politics of Maharashtra.

Does the Maratha community's claim under the OBC quota have any historical basis? If the Marathas are identified Kunbis, it would mean that they are an OBC group. But between 1950 and 1989, the Maratha community did not claim itself to be an OBC group.

The community's claim to an OBC has been rejected several times too. The Kakasaheb Kalelkar Committee earlier and the Mandal Commission later did not include the Maratha community in the OBC category. At that time, the Maratha community, including the Maratha caste organisations, did not aggressively push for inclusion under the OBC quotas. So in this sense, this is an ahistorical claim. And Patil has ignored this early history when demanding inclusion under the OBC quota. From the 1990s to the present, different governments have made efforts to arrange new quotas for the Marathas. In 2004, the Sushil Kumar Shinde government decided to include the Marathas in the OBCs quota. But a court rejected the state government's decision. A major conflict ensued between the courts and the state government. Later, the Bapat, Rane, Khatri, and Maruti Gaikwad commissions proposed new categories of quotas be set up. Among the recommendations were a Special Backward Class (SBC) and a Social-Educational Backward Class (SEBC). Instead, the government of India created the Economically Weaker Sections (EWS) quota. While the courts retained the Union government's EWS quota, the SBC and SEBC quotas made by the Maharashtra government were annulled and the reservations under these quotas invalidated. The issue of political participation had not been included in the new quotas—only employment and education; the court invalidated the two implements too.

PTI

The split between Sharad Pawar and Ajit Pawar is informed by the evolving politics of at least half a century. Some in the community have opposed being categorised as a socially backward class, saying it's an economic need. Other parties have made political capital out of this fractured calculus

Major fault lines

The main conflict now is between the Marathas and OBCs. OBC communities are opposed to the inclusion of the Marathas. They profer three reasons to keep the Marathas out. One, the inclusion of Marathas in the 27 percent for the OBCs would reduce employment and education opportunities for those already in the fold.

Two, if reservation is given to the Marathas for employment and education, they could later claim political quotas too. Three, Marathas are a politically dominant caste. If they are included in the OBC quota, the caste's dominance would increase. This is another reason the SCs and OBCs are opposed to their inclusion under the OBC quota. The concept of pitting Marathas as OBCs is also opposed by the upper castes and the 'warrior group' within the Maratha community. They say that the Marathas are not a single caste, but a 'caste cluster'. The warrior group within the Maratha community considers itself to be high aristocracy and are against accepting a 'backward' identity. The upper castes, including those in the BJP, have consistently opposed the political dominance of the Marathas and don't want it to increase.

So the categorisation of Marathas as OBCs is strongly opposed by the Scheduled Castes, other OBCs and the upper castes. These three have closed ranks on this issue. As a result, the quota discourse remains boiling on fires lit long back.

Entire border with Myanmar to be fenced: Shah

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

HOME Minister Amit Shah on Tuesday announced that the government has decided to fence the entire 1,643-km-long India-Myanmar border, which would now in all probability end the Free Movement Regime (FMR) prevalent along the existing porous border.

Noting that the Modi government is committed to building impenetrable borders, Shah in one his social media posts said, "It has decided to construct a fence along the entire 1643-km Indo-Myanmar border. To facilitate better surveillance, a patrol track along the border will also be paved." He said a 10-km stretch of the border in Moreh in Manipur has already been fenced and furthermore two pilot projects of fencing through a hybrid surveillance system are under execution, he said.

Under the FMR facilitates, people living close to the India-Myanmar border can venture 16 km into each other's territory without any document. The Myanmar border, which passes through Mizoram, Manipur, Nagaland and Arunachal Pradesh, currently has FMR, as it was introduced by the Modi government in 2018 as part of India's Act East policy.

Imphal Valley-based Meitei groups have long been demanding fencing along the border, particularly after ethnic violence in the state, which started in may last year. They have been alleging that tribal militants often enter into India through the porous borders. The Meitei groups also allege that narcotics are being smuggled into India taking advantage of the unfenced international border.

Manipur shares around 390km of border with Myanmar, but only about 10km has been fenced so far. In July, the government shared data with the Union Ministry of Home Affairs that around 700 illegal immigrants entered the state.

Mizoram has also seen an influx of anti-Junta rebels in thousands since the military coup in Myanmar on February 1, 2021. According to government estimates, several thousand refugees are living in different parts of Mizoram since the coup. Mizoram shares a 510-km-long border with Myanmar.

Bill for OBC reservation in local bodies in J&K gets LS approval

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

THE Lok Sabha on Tuesday passed a bill to provide reservation to Other Backward Classes in local bodies in Jammu and Kashmir, with the government asserting that important changes have taken place in the Union territory since the abrogation of Article 370 in 2019.

Replying to a brief debate on the Jammu and Kashmir Local Bodies Laws (Amendment) Bill-2024, Minister of State for Home Nityanand Rai said that the people of the state have started enjoying the fruits of development ushered in by the government. The bill seeks to provide reservation to OBCs in panchayats and municipalities in J&K and bring consistency in the local body laws of the Union territory with the provisions of the Constitution.

"Justice will be ensured to the citizens of Other Backward Classes of Jammu and Kashmir for the first time after 75 years of Independence," according to the statement of objects and reasons of the bill.

Rai said that he made no reference to the opposition demand for the government to spell out a time frame for holding of elections in J&K and the restoration of statehood.

Rai said that the opposition members were resorting to a drama of supporting the bill granting reservation to OBCs and were raising other issues.

Earlier, Opposition members urged the government to hold assembly elections in Jammu and Kashmir at the earliest.

Hasnain Masoodi of the National Conference (NC) demanded that the polls in the Union territory be held soon. He said that the Centre should have decided on the polls before the Supreme Court had to intervene in the matter.

Minister of State for Home Ajay Misra intervened to point out that local bodies' elections were held in the erstwhile state. Participating in the debate, TMC leader Saugata Roy also referred to the SC observation and pitched for early assembly polls in Jammu and Kashmir.

House nod to bill to deal strictly with exam paper leaks

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

THE Lok Sabha on Tuesday passed a Bill which seeks to deal sternly with malpractices and irregularities in competitive examinations with provisions for a maximum jail term of 10 years and a fine up to ₹1 crore.

Piloting The Public Examinations (Prevention of Unfair Means) Bill, 2024, Union Minister Jitendra Singh said its provisions are meant to safeguard the interest of meritorious students and candidates. The LS passed the Bill after rejecting some amendments proposed by opposition members.

Singh said that the government "will not allow meritorious (candidates) to be sacrificed at the alter of organised crimes," adding that the students and candidates do not fall in the purview of this bill and there will be no harm to job aspirants.

He said that there is no specific substantive law to deal with unfair means adopted or offences committed by various entities involved in the conduct of public examinations. "This is above politics and concern which deals with the daughters and sons of this country, which we all of us should share. There are few doubts as we have not read the bill thoroughly. Firstly, I want to clear that the students or the candidates do not fall in the purview or this legislation. This bill is for those who indulge in unfair means and adversely impact the public examination system for wrongful gains," he added.

The move to bring a Bill comes against the backdrop of cancellation of a series of competitive exams like the teacher recruitment exam in Rajasthan, Common Eligibility Test (CET) for Group-D posts in Haryana, recruitment exam for junior clerks in Gujarat and constable recruitment examination in Bihar following question paper leaks.

The bill will cover entrance examinations held by the Union Public Service Commission (UPSC), the Staff Selection Commission (SSC), the railways, banking recruitment examinations and all computer-based examinations conducted by the National Testing Agency (NTA).

The bill also proposes a high-level national technical committee on public examinations that will make recommendations to make the computerised examination process more secure.

The bill proposes a minimum of three to five years of imprisonment to curb cheating and those involved in organised crimes of cheating will face five to 10 years of imprisonment and a minimum fine of ₹1 crore. The main aim of the bill is to prevent organised gangs and institutions that are involved in unfair means for monetary gains.

NRI Grievances group international convenor Subhas Balappanavar at San Francisco

IN one of the largest worldwide campaigns of NRIs of post-independence, dozens of NRIs flocked to the India embassies and consulates worldwide and petitioned them seeking protection for their investments and savings in India.

Their petition at all locations was just the same-- "we as victims have organized ourselves into a group advocating for relief measures. Our preliminary data analysis suggests that one out of every three NRIs has experienced victimization in India. We appeal to the union government for support considering our substantial contribution at the national level. To address the concerns raised we propose enactment of the NRI Protection Bill."

The first knock on the doors of embassies and consulates were in the Eastern Asian regions of Hong Kong and in the areas of Australia, then followed petitions in the middle east and gulf nations where again there is a heavy concentration of Indians and then followed Europe, US and Canada.

The team members led by Subhas Balappanavar who is their international convenor took flights to reach all the seven consular offices in USA. Mamata very much part of INDIA bloc, says Rahul in J'khand

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

AMID scathing attacks made by Bengal Chief Minister Mamta Banerjee against the Congress party, former party President Rahul Gandhi said on Tuesday that Banerjee is "very much" part of the INDIA bloc. Rahul Gandhi's statement came days after the TMC leader walked away from the alliance, announcing to go "solo" in state polls.

While talking to the media during his fourth day of 'Bharat Jodo Nyay Yatra' at Basiya in Gumla, the Congress leader said that seat-sharing negotiations are underway among the members of the alliance.

"Mamata-ji is very much part of the INDIA bloc like most of the other members who are part of it," said Rahul Gandhi. Negotiations are going on among the members of the alliance over seat sharing, and "that is normal", he added.

Banerjee had recently said that her party TMC won't fight the Lok Sabha polls in alliance with the Congress in West Bengal. She accused the Congress of joining hands with the CPI (M) to assist the BJP in the elections.

Reacting on the statement made by Prime Minister Narendra Modi over Congress' allegations that OBCs are being ignored by BJP, Rahul Gandhi said that, "PM calls himself OBC, in between, he got confused and then started saying that there are only two castes in the country – rich and poor; first they should decide what they want to say. Caste census should be conducted in the country."

Modi pointing towards himself in the Lok Sabha had said, "Can't the Congress see the biggest OBC."

Referring to Bihar CM Nitish Kumar parting ways with INDIA Alliance, and joining the BJP-led NDA, Gandhi said, "You can guess what would have been the reasons for his leaving. We will fight in Bihar as part of the alliance."

Send UCC Bill to select panel: Oppn

Says need time to study the bulky report, BJP praises Dhami govt's move calling it historic

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR & NARENDRA SETHI @ New Delhi / Dehradun

THE draft of the Uniform Civil Code Bill tabled in the Uttarakhand Assembly mandating registration of live-in relationships, drew the Opposition flak which accused the Dhami government of trying to pass the bill without a debate in violation of legislative traditions. Leader of the Opposition in the Assembly Yashpal Arya suggested that the Bill should be referred to a select committee of the House to examine its provisions.

Participating in a debate on the Bill after its introduction in the House, BJP leaders said the state has made history by bringing in the legislation and blamed the "politics of appeasement" for the non-implementation of a Uniform Civil Code in the country over the years.

Speaker Ritu Khanduri allowed more time after opposition members protested, raising slogans in the House. They wanted time to study the bill and then offer their views. "It seems the government wants to pass the bill without a debate in violation of legislative traditions," Arya said. The opposition also protested against the decision of the business advisory committee to suspend the question hour to table the UCC.

ROAD TO BILL

- May 27, 2022: Panel set up

20 MONTHS, 8 DAYS: The committee took to submit the final draft

THE COMMITTEE: Headed by SC's Justice (retd) Ranjana Desai. Other members are Justice Permod Kohli (retd), Manu Gaur, Shatrughan Singh, IAS (retd) and vice-chancellor of Doon University Surekha Dangwal

- Feb 2, 2024: Panel submits draft to CM Pushkar Singh Dhami
- Committee's work: 740-page draft report, divided into 4 volumes

The live-in relationship is no crime, but there should be some safeguards. The bill asking men and women to inform about their live-in status may infringe their right to privacy

Gyanant Singh, Delhi-based lawyer

Arya said there are 392 sections in the Bill which runs into 172 pages, and it would have been better if the opposition members were allowed enough time to study it in detail for a positive debate on its provisions in the House. The Congress leader also said the committee of experts that prepared the draft should also have included experts of different religions.

"India is a pluralistic country. Different religions have 10 different civil laws here," he said.

The Bill applies to the entire Uttarakhand and also to people from the state who live outside. The state's tribal population is exempted from the draft provisions.

Reacting to the Bill's draft, the BJP said in Delhi that it was a much-needed move towards fulfilling the promise made by the party long ago. Speaking to the media, Union minister Meenakshi Lekhi said the Uttarakhand UCC will secure the rights of everyone.

She said "The BJP welcomes it" as it is being done to fulfill the promises by our ancestors to the nation", she said, adding that the ancestors will be blessing the government for bringing the UCC into effect. She also said that the makers of the Constitution had deliberated upon this many times.

"The makers of the Constitution discussed the matter (UCC) several times before putting in a provision for this. And, our party leaders as well as the government are fulfilling the promise of our ancestors under the leadership of Prime Minister Modi ji", she said.

BJP national spokesperson Nalin Kohli also said that the UCC reflects the "constitutional vision".

"The Bill is the vision of the Constitution and the BJP stands for what is in the Constitution," he said.

He said opposition to the state government's move is equivalent to ignoring the fact that Article 44 of the Constitution stipulates that the State shall endeavor to bring a uniform civil code.

In Lucknow, the All India Muslim Personal Law Board opposed the Bill, calling it interference in religious matters. It also questioned the relevance of the Bill when it exempts the tribal population of the state.

"Basically, there is no use of such kind of law when you are yourself saying that certain communities will be exempt from the Act. Then where is the uniformity?" said Khalid Rashid Farangi Mahali, executive committee member of All India Muslim Personal Law Board.

ED conducts raids in 4 Bengal districts over 'bungling' of MGNREGA funds

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

A day after Leader of Opposition Suvendu Adhikari, refusing to disclose details of his meeting with Union Home minister Amit Shah in Delhi on Monday, said actions would soon be visible, the ED conducted raids in four districts as part of its investigation into the alleged misappropriation of funds under the Centre's Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Act (MGNREGA).

Raids which continued for more than eight hours were conducted at a government official's quarters in Jhargram, a businessman's house in Hooghly's Chinsurah, an expelled panchayat worker's house in Murshidabad and former block development officer's residence in Salt Lake, North 24 Parganas.

This is the first time the federal agency is conducting raids in the state in connection with the alleged corruption linked to the rural employment guarantee scheme.

'No funds since 2021'

The Centre has stopped releasing funds under the MGNREGA since 2021 citing irregularities. CM Mamata Banerjee then accused the Centre of depriving the people of the state of their rightful dues. She staged sit-in-demonstration for 48 hours and announced that the state would pay 21 lakh MGNREGA workers

When the Centre has stopped releasing funds under the MGNREGA since 2021 citing irregularities, chief minister Mamata Banerjee accused the Union government of depriving the people of the state of their rightful dues. She staged sit-in-demonstration for 48 hours in Kolkata and before concluding, she announced that the state government would pay 21 lakh MGNREGA workers.

The ED initiated the probe into the alleged irregularities after filing an Enforcement Case Information Report (EICR) on the bases of five FIRs lodged with several police stations, including two in Murshidabad and one in Hooghly.

Adhikari met shah at a time when Mamata is mounting pressure on the Centre over the issue of releasing fund under the MGNREGA. Sources in the BJP said, Adhikari raised the issue of the misappropriation of the Centre's fund in the meeting and requested not to release Bengal's dues without probing into the alleged anomalies.

"I cannot share details of the meeting with Shah. But you will see the action shortly," Adhikari said after coming out of Shah's office. According to the investigating agency, fake job cards were created to collect and siphon money meant for the 100-day job scheme under the rural employment guarantee scheme. ED's raid aid to be significant in the backdrop of Mamata's announcement to pay 21 lakh Bengal workers before the upcoming elections.

Campaigning done, Pak all set for general election

With Imran Khan jailed, the field is open for PML-N's Nawaz Sharif

PAKISTAN

PAKISTAN'S politicians hit the campaign trail on Tuesday for the last time ahead of a general election that pollsters say has left the nation of 240 million at its most "discouraged" in years.

With former prime minister Imran Khan in jail and his party barred from contesting as a bloc, the field is open for the Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz (Nawaz Sharif) to win the most seats and give a fourth term as premier to its founder, Nawaz Sharif. "The atmosphere... is of a carnival. The elections are a day after tomorrow, but we are already celebrating," Sharif told a rally of around 15,000 in Kasur, south of Lahore in his Punjab province heartland.

Candidates loyal to Khan's Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) party could still prove a decisive factor — as well as the Pakistan Peoples Party (PPP) of Bilawal Bhutto Zardari — but a generally lacklustre campaign season, as well as voter apathy, suggest a low turnout on Thursday.

"Seven in 10 Pakistanis lack confidence in the honesty of their elections. While this ties previous highs, it nevertheless represents a significant regression in recent years." The election campaigning will enter a madatory pause on Wednesday before polls open on Thursday for more than 120 million registered voters to take part in an election. Looming large over the vote — despite being barred from taking part — is Imran Khan, who was handed three lengthy prison sentences last week for treason, graft and a marriage that did not meet Islamic law requirements. AFP

UNHR decries violence in Pak, supports Khan

GENEVA/ISLAMABAD

BELEAGUERED former Pakistan prime minister and founder of the Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaaf (PTI) party Imran Khan on Tuesday received unexpected international support ahead of Thursday's general elections when the UN human rights body deplored 'all acts of violence against political parties and candidates.' With barely two days for polling, the office of High Commissioner, United Nations Human Rights (UNHR) also urged the authorities to uphold the fundamental freedoms necessary for 'an inclusive and meaningful democratic process' as it spoke about the barriers faced by women and minority communities in Pakistan, particularly the Ahmadis. In a statement, the UNHR pointed out that in the lead-up to the vote, there have been no less than 24 reported instances. "Pakistan's democratic gains over the past 15 years have been hard-won in the face of many security and economic challenges. Elections are an important moment to reaffirm the country's commitment to human rights, and to ensure the right to participation of all its people," UNHR spokesperson Liz Throssell said. PTI

King Charles III's cancer was caught early: Sunak

LONDON

KING CHARLES III's cancer was caught early and the whole country is hoping for a speedy recovery, British Prime Minister Rishi Sunak said Tuesday, as the monarch's son Prince Harry reportedly flew from the U.S. to visit his father.

Buckingham Palace announced Monday evening that the king has begun outpatient treatment for an undisclosed form of cancer. It was found during his recent hospital treatment for an enlarged prostate but is a "separate issue" and not prostate cancer, the palace said.

"Thankfully, this has been caught early," Sunak told BBC radio, adding that as prime minister he would "continue to communicate with him as normal." "Many families around the country listening to this will have been touched by the same thing and they know what it means to everyone," Sunak said. "So we'll just be willing him on and hopefully we get through this as quickly as possible."

Less than 18 months into the reign that he'd famously waited decades to begin, the 75-year-old monarch has suspended public engagements but will continue with state business — including weekly meetings with the prime minister — and won't be handing over his constitutional roles as head of state.

The palace said Charles, who has generally enjoyed good health, "remains wholly positive about his treatment and looks forward to returning to full public duty as soon as possible." Charles became king in September 2022 when his mother, Queen Elizabeth II, died at the age of 96 after 70 years on the throne.

Charles departed from royal tradition with his openness about his prostate condition. For centuries Britain's royal family remained tight-lipped about health matters.

Disclosing information about his cancer diagnosis — albeit in a limited way — is another break with tradition.

When UK monarchs had real power, news of illness was withheld for fear it might weaken their authority.

The British public wasn't told that Charles' grandfather, King George VI, had lung cancer before his death in February 1952 at the age of 56. AFP

Blinken visits Qatar seeking 'an enduring end' to Gaza war

GAZA STRIP

US SECRETARY of State Antony Blinken visited Qatar on Tuesday on his latest Middle East crisis tour, seeking a new ceasefire and "an enduring end" to the Israel-Hamas war.

The US top envoy was later bound for Israel, hoping to shore up support for a truce deal that was hashed out in Paris in January but has not yet been signed off on by either Hamas or Israel.

Heavy strikes and fighting in Gaza killed at least 107 people in 24 hours, said the health ministry in the Hamas-ruled territory that has been under almost four months of bombardment. Fears grew for more than a million Palestinians crowded into the far southern Rafah area as the battlefront draws ever closer in Israel's campaign to eradicate Hamas over the October 7 attack.

Israeli Defence Minister Yoav Gallant warned on Monday that the military "will reach places where we have not yet fought... right up to the last Hamas bastion, which is Rafah", on the Egyptian border.

Palestinian Raed al-Bardani, 32, who has been displaced multiple times and now lives in Rafah with his wife and four children, charged that "the goal is to destroy Rafah because it is the only area that the occupation has not yet destroyed".

Blinken — on his fifth regional tour since the bloodiest ever Gaza war broke out — earlier met Egyptian President Abdel Fattah al-Sisi in Cairo, a day after he held talks with Saudi Crown Prince Mohammed bin Salman in Riyadh. Blinken and Sisi "discussed ongoing efforts to secure the release of all hostages held by Hamas," said State Department spokesperson Matthew Miller.

The US envoy also "expressed appreciation for Egypt's leadership role in facilitating the delivery of humanitarian assistance to Palestinians in Gaza".

And Blinken emphasised Washington's "rejection of any forced displacement of Palestinians from Gaza and commitment to establishing a Palestinian state that provides peace and security for Israelis and Palestinians alike", Miller said.

Heavy combat in Khan Yunis

Israeli troops, with air and naval support, have been engaged in heavy combat centred on Gaza's main southern city of Khan Yunis, the hometown of Hamas's Gaza chief, Yahya Sinwar, much of which has been reduced to rubble. AFP

'Handed over Gaza truce deal response to Egypt'

GAZA STRIP: Palestinian militant group Hamas said on Tuesday it handed its response on a truce deal aimed at halting the war with Israel to key mediators. 3 DIE IN 'TERRORIST' ATTACK OUTSIDE ISTANBUL COURT

ISTANBUL

TURKISH police on Tuesday shot dead two assailants from a leftist organisation, branded "terrorists" by authorities, who attacked a security checkpoint outside Istanbul's main court, killing one person and injuring five, officials said. Interior Minister Ali Yerlikaya said the assailants were members of the Revolutionary People's Liberation Party-Front (DHKP-C) — a fringe leftist group that has staged periodic attacks in Turkey since the 1980s.

The DHKP-C issued no initial claim of responsibility. The group, which is considered a terrorist organisation by the United States, has been fighting US influence in the Middle East and across the world.

In 2014, Washington offered a $3 million reward for the capture of the group's leaders. "I congratulate our security forces, who eliminated the treacherous attack with timely intervention," President Recep Tayyip Erdogan said in televised remarks. "Two terrorists, one a woman and the other a man, were neutralised." Erdogan said the attack injured three police and three civilians, one of whom died later.

'Trump can be tried in Capitol attack case'

WASHINGTON

A FEDERAL appeals panel ruled on Tuesday that Donald Trump can face trial on charges that he plotted to overturn the results of the 2020 election, rejecting the former president's claims that he is immune from prosecution.

The decision marks the second time in as many months that judges have spurned Trump's immunity arguments and held that he can be prosecuted for actions undertaken while in the White House and in the run-up to January 6, 2021, when a mob of his supporters stormed the US Capitol.

Donald Trump

But it also sets the stage for additional appeals from the Republican ex-president that could reach the US Supreme Court. The trial was originally set for March, but it was postponed last week and the judge didn't immediately set a new date. 'We conclude that the interest in criminal accountability, held by both the public and the Executive Branch, outweighs the potential risks of chilling Presidential action and permitting vexatious litigation,' the judges wrote.

The trial date carries enormous political ramifications, with the Republican primary front-runner hoping to delay it until after the November election.

If Trump defeats President Joe Biden, he could presumably try to use his position as head of the executive branch to order a new attorney general to dismiss the federal cases or he potentially could seek a pardon for himself. The appeals court took centre stage in the immunity dispute after the SC last month said it was at least temporarily staying out of it AP

Another creditor moves insolvency court against Byju's

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

THE National Law Company Tribunal (NCLT) on Tuesday issued a notice in an insolvency plea filed by Surfer Technologies, a digital marketing firm, against Byju's. NCLT Bengaluru has asked the edtech company to file a response in two weeks.

Surfer is said to have argued that the edtech company had incurred a debt of ₹2.3 crore and that the company had also issued notice to Byju's in this regard in December last year.

This is said to be the fourth pleA that seeks the initiation of insolvency proceedings against the firm. Earlier, foreign lenders, who collectively provided over 85% of Byju's $1.2 billion Term Loan B (TLB), filed an insolvency plea against the firm. The second one was filed by France-based Teleperformance Business Services India. The Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) filed an insolvency plea against the firm regarding default in sponsorship dues.

On foreign lenders filing an insolvency plea, Byju's had said any proceedings by lenders before NCLT are premature and baseless. Byju's spokesperson had said, "As we have stated before, the validity of lenders' actions, including acceleration of the term loan, is pending and under challenge in several proceedings, including before the New York Supreme Court."

Meanwhile, Byju's paid January salaries. It was struggling to pay salaries and founder Byju Raveendran in an emotional letter to employees said he has been moving mountains for months to make payroll, and this time, "the struggle was even bigger to ensure that you receive what you deserve." He added, "The world reads regularly about my daily struggles. But I will someday tell you about my monthly miracles. Over time, I believe that a hidden miracle accompanies every struggle; one has to keep moving forward."

Paytm is working with regulator to address concerns after RBI direction to Paytm Payments Bank

Paytm to expand biz in alliance with banks

Paytm is working with banks for the past two years and will accelerate the plans and move to other bank partners. Next phase of its journey is to continue to expand payments and financial services business, in partnerships with other banks, says a report

Paytm CEO meets RBI; firm seeks deadline extension

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

PAYTM CEO Vijay Shekhar Sharma has reportedly met the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) officials. This comes in the wake of the RBI's curb on Paytm Payments Bank.

Various reports also suggest that Sharma also met the finance minister. It is said that Sharma and other officials from Paytm discussed the regulatory concerns. An email sent to Paytm regarding the meeting did not elicit any response.

The company has been working with the regulator to address their concerns following the central bank's direction to Paytm Payments Bank. The RBI has barred the bank from accepting deposits, credit transactions and top-ups in any customer account after February 29. A report by brokerage Bernstein has said in its research report the RBI directive is intended at restricting the activities of PPBL and not aimed at the other functions of Paytm's platform including UPI payments and loan distribution.

Paytm works with several banks along with its associate bank. It has been working with other banks for the past two years and will now accelerate the plans and completely move to other bank partners. The next phase of the company's journey is to continue to expand its payments and financial services business, only in partnerships with other banks, the report said.

Meanwhile, One97 Communications Ltd (OCL) on Monday denied reports of probe or violation of Foreign Exchange rules by the company or its associate Paytm Payments Bank Limited. "We would like to reiterate that the Company and its associate Paytm Payments Bank Limited are not the subject matter of any such investigation," the company said.

Paytm rivals are now seeing a rise in app downloads. PhonePe spokesperson said they are seeing a surge in inbound requests from merchants for QRs and SmartSpeakers. "We are making sure we are meeting that demand," the spokesperson added. Also, a group of start-up founders has written to the PM, FM and the RBI asking them to review the RBI's directive and engage in dialogue with the fintech industry.

MPC meet preview: Focus on liquidity management

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

EVEN as the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) is gearing up for its monetary policy meet on Thursday, all eyes are on the central bank's stance and strategies concerning liquidity management.

Recent insights from financial giants Nomura and IDFC First Bank shed light on the evolving dynamics within the RBI's approach. Nomura highlights the RBI's view of fiscal policy as a complement to monetary policy, emphasising the importance of fiscal consolidation in mitigating inflation risks, quality of consolidation and less market borrowing. The bank anticipates the RBI maintaining the repo rate on February 8, while addressing tight frictional liquidity and contemplating the removal of the tightening bias in policy guidance.

Nomura's outlook even suggests the possibility of a 100 basis points rate cut, starting as early as June.

On the other hand, IDFC First Bank also underscored the significance of the RBI's focus on liquidity management, noting the recent tightening of liquidity conditions. The bank observes a shift in the RBI's approach towards maintaining overnight rates, indicating a move away from keeping rates near the Marginal Standing Facility (MSF) rate towards a range between MSF and the repo rate. This shift is supported by an improved outlook on inflation, marked by a moderation in core inflation and easing food inflation trends in January.

Despite the developments, IDFC First Bank cautions against premature changes in stance due to inflation hovering above the 4% target. The bank expects RBI to uphold the status quo on policy rates and stance during the upcoming policy announcement, with the rate cut cycle commencing from June or August onwards.

HDFC Bank Group gets RBI approval to raise stake in 6 banks

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

HDFC Bank Group has received approval from the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) to acquire aggregate holding of up to 9.5% of the paid-up share capital or voting rights in six banks.

These banks include Axis Bank, Survoday Small Finance Bank, ICICI Bank, Bandhan Bank, YES Bank and IndusInd Bank. HDFC Bank said that the above investments by HDFC Bank Group are in the normal course of business of the respective group entities such as HDFC Bank, HDFC Mutual Fund, HDFC Life Insurance Company Limited, HDFC ERGO General Insurance Company Limited and others. RBI's approval is valid for one year from the date of RBI's letter (till February 4, 2025).

HDFC Bank said it will ensure that the "aggregate holding" in the above-mentioned banks does not exceed 9.5% of the paid-up share capital or voting rights of the respective banks, at all times.

The Mumbai-based lender added that it had no intention to increase its investment in the 6 banks but since the "aggregate holding" of HDFC Bank group was likely to exceed the prescribed limit of 5%, an application seeking approval from RBI for an increase in investment limits was made on December 19, 2023.

As per the latest data available, HDFC Bank held a 3% stake in YES Bank as of December 31. HDFC Life Insurance holds a 2.92% stake in Suryoday, whereas HDFC Pension Management has a 1.88% stake in IndusInd Bank. HDFC Mutual Fund has 2.76% voting rights in ICICI Bank, 2.49% in Axis Bank, and 2.23% in IndusInd Bank. Fresh announcement by HDFC Bank comes after the RBI on January 25 gave nod to state-run Life Insurance Corporation (LIC) to acquire a 9.99% stake in the country's largest private lender. At the end of December quarter, LIC's holding in HDFC Bank stood at 5.19%.

India to lease out caverns to strengthen oil reserves, expects foreign players

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

INDIA Strategic Petroleum Reserves (ISPRL), a petroleum ministry arm, will come up with an expression of Interest (EOI) to lease out vacant oil caverns in the country.

Its managing director LR Jain said he is expecting Indian oil marketing companies (OMCs), as well foreign ones, to use the facility. India has overhauled its strategic petroleum reserve (SPR) policy that allows commercial sale of crude to boost private participation in the building of new storage facilities. The purpose is to cut down government spending on filling up the available capacity in the caverns.

"We are soon to come up with EOI for reserve in the country. This time I am also expecting companies from foreign to apply for it," said Jain.

Strategic reserves are meant to use oil in case of oil shortage or oil emergency in the world. India has three storage facilities with a combined capacity of 5.33MMT. In 2021, India had approved the establishment of two additional commercial-cum-strategic facilities with total storage capacity of 6.5 MMT at Chandikhol (4 MMT) in Odisha and Padur (2.5 MMT) in Karnataka, on a Public Private Partnership (PPP) mode.

The completion of phase two will take India's SPR capacity to 11.83 MMT. Currently, Abu Dhabi National Oil Company (ADNOC) has leased 1.25 million tonne (of 2.5 million tonne) at the Padur reserve and 0.75 million tonne (of 1.5 million tonne) at Mangalore. A 0.33 million tonnes of storage built at Visakhapatnam is for Hindustan Petroleum Corporation Limited.

Now the rest of reserves the government is planning to lease. The government has cut down its budget to to top up the reserve oil in this interim budget. Last year, it had had allocated ₹5,000 crore for 2023-24 (FY24) to fill up vacant capacity in the underground caverns.

CHINA

STOCKS REBOUND ON RENEWED TALK OF SUPPORT

Battered Chinese stocks leapt to their largest one-day gain in two years on Tuesday and the yuan rose on a slew of signals that authorities are strengthening their resolve to support slumping markets. The Shanghai Composite jumped 3.2%, its biggest daily gain since March 2022. Trade volume was the highest since May last year. The blue-chip CSI 300 climbed 3.5% for its largest one-day rise since Nov. 2022, and the small cap index (.CSI1000I) notched its biggest rise since 2008. The rebound comes after country's main indexes sank to five-year lows in recent sessions on gloom about the sputtering economy and a lack of forceful policy stimulus measures like those rolled out during past crises. Most of the surge happened when traders returned from markets' midday break having digested a volley of helpful headlines. Earlier, global news agencies had reported President Xi Jinping will discuss the struggling stock market with financial regulators.

SRI LANKA

TO LIFT LIMIT ON RUPEE CONVERSION FOR REMITTANCES

Sri Lanka has approved gradually lifting some limits on converting rupees to foreign exchange for outward remittances and the new directions will be presented to parliament for approval, cabinet spokesperson Bandula Gunawardane said on Tuesday. The island nation's central bank had suspended permission to remit funds for overseas investments by Sri Lankan residents from mid-2020 except under certain conditions. "Sri Lanka's reserves have gradually improved and limits will be raised under guidance of the central bank," Gunawardane told reporters during the weekly cabinet briefing. The country of 22 million people is slowly recovering from its financial crisis, which sent the economy into freefall with soaring inflation, currency depreciation and low foreign reserves. Sri Lanka's official reserves stood at $4.4 billion at the end of 2023, an increase of 22% according to the central bank. About $1.5 billion of the reserves is a Chinese yuan-denominated swap.

Bazball's foundation — Crawley

Opener's success is a byproduct of the team environment Stokes & McCullum have created

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@Chennai

THE world of Test cricket has a new Sehwagian figure at the top of the order. Ladies and gentlemen, boys and girls, please give it up for... Zak Crawley. No, your computer screens aren't glitching. It may be a bit OTT but allow an explanation.

If Joe Root is Bazball's lodestar and Ben Stokes the insurance policy, Crawley is the foundation. India have seen Bazball in varying stages of flight in all four innings thus far. The primary reason for that is the start the opening pair of Ben Duckett-Crawley have given the tourists (55 and 45 at Hyderabad followed by 59 and 50 at Visakhapatnam; for comparison, it was 63 and 0, 0 and 17, 2 and 0, and 10 and 10 in the 2021 Tour).

The talent has never been in doubt (you need to be blessed to be able to hit 267 off Shaheen Afridi and Naseem Shah irrespective of the conditions) but he has added that tiny bit of consistency to his game. In the process, he is in position A1 to claim the title as the 'most improved red-ball batter' in world cricket.

It's also inarguable that Crawley is one of several batters in this set-up to have profited from the Ben Stokes-Brendon McCullum regime. When the then 23-year-old toured India in 2021, his role in the set-up directly contradicted his natural stroke-making ability. A return of 67 runs from four innings (including a half-century).

Crawley was very intimate when he was asked about it before the second Test. "A lot of us play a bit better under this regime," he had noted. "I suppose it (Bazball) comes naturally to us as a lot of our teams are playing more aggressively. The mindset when I first came to England was to take your time and build a long innings and I didn't think that came naturally to me and a few of the others." Crawley was being honest. The numbers are the proof. Divide his career into two blocks — one before Bazball and one during. In his first 21 matches, he averaged 28.6 at a strike rate of 53.81. Since Stokes and McCullum came together, the opener is scoring eight runs more per inning while striking at over 77. In literal terms, an average Crawley innings was 28 off 52 till April 2022. Since May 2022, it's been 36 off 46. Since July 2023, it's taken off — 62 from 74. With increased trust from the management, the output has increased following job security.

It's in complete contrast to how he was when the coach and the skipper took over the team in the middle of 2022. Its soul had been ripped apart, losing games of cricket was their only identity and players like Crawley were in danger of falling through the cracks. But McCullum (perhaps he saw a bit of himself in Crawley) came, put an arm on the shoulder, sat him down and told him exactly what he wanted to hear. In fact, months after taking over the team, the former Kiwi captain had said: "I look at a guy like Zak and his skillset is not to be a consistent cricketer. He's not that type of player but he is put in that situation because he has a game that means when he gets going, he can win matches for England."

He was asked about that comment after his half-century in the first innings at Vizag. "Not something I have thought to be honest," he had said. "I am just trying to chase those good moments and good days. I feel like I am playing better now than I was, so that is why maybe I am a bit more consistent. I am still trying to chase those big knocks but I did not quite manage it today. I am a better player now than when Baz made that comment but I understand what he said."

Not just a better player but he is also a better player against spin. He has used that 6'5" frame of his to good effect in both matches; he has used those long levers of his to attack the spinners. He's also been rock solid against the pacers (one of very few batters yet to be dismissed by Jasprit Bumrah in this series).

The next challenge for the 26-year-old, whose thrill-a-minute 182-ball 189 against Mitchell Starc, Pat Cummins, Josh Hazlewood and Cam Green was one of the Test performances of 2023? Converting the 50s (only batter in this series to have crossed 50 twice) into a substantial three-figure mark.

He may well do it in the next game.

RANJI TROPHY

Car is running smooth, says TN captain Sai Kishore

GOMESH S @Chennai

SAI Kishore is a happy captain. After five matches, Tamil Nadu are on top of the Ranji table. For the first time since 2015, they have had three consecutive victories, and the left-arm spinner himself has accounted for 27 wickets in eight innings, including a fifer.

However, more than the results, it is the way the team has played and come together that has made the 27-year-old happy. "When results come, it's a good feeling. It gives you confidence that your process is right. More than the win, I am emphasising on the way we play and it has been fantastic so far," he tells this daily. Having been handed the captaincy in the middle of last season, this year was going to be a litmus test. He, however, sees it as a puzzle. He believes that cricket is a captain's game and the person is responsible even for the smallest of things. To manage the additional responsibilities and his own game has been a learning experience so far. What has helped him in that process is the way the players have stepped in their roles — whether it's N Jagadeesan, Pradosh Ranjan Paul and Baba Indrajith with the bat or Sandeep Warrier or Ajith Ram with the ball. "I am also growing, my instincts are getting better. Overall I am very very grateful. There is nothing to say that I did this, all the players are showing up, support staff. The car is running smooth, you can't point out it is because of the engine or the driver or anything. Everything is going hand in glove. You are honestly leading your side, doing your work. I think the universe or God, has also been very kind in the results. So very grateful," he says.

Ask him what is the most important thing as a captain, he says it is all about being a good human and a friend. "If you are not a good human, people are not going to trust you. I think it is about being a good friend, teammate, even though you are captain, after that things become easy, because they trust you. I think that is the most important thing. I wont say I am a finished product. Still trying to learn about my own game for the captaincy, handling different situations.

Every Ranji game I play, I still get goosebumps when I wear that white jersey for TN. It was a dream once to play in Ranji. Every day is a blessing. Not everyone gets to do that

Sai Kishore, on enjoying the present

"It is all about working hard, being honest, authentic and hope the results go your way. I don't want to take credit for anything, we take decisions for the team and ultimately it is those players who are showing, Jaggi scoring those many number of runs directly put us in the driving seat. So it is all Jaggi's effort. Pradosh, Lokesh (S Lokeshwar) batted beautifully, all you are trying to do is find a good puzzle, assist them in every way possible, put them in a place where they can excel. After that it is just playing as a team."

While Sai Kishore has done well for himself as a captain and player, he has had to bide his time to move up the ladder. He made his India debut in the Asian Games, and even when Ravindra Jadeja was ruled out of the second Test against England, his name was one of the few to come up in discussion as a replacement. The 27-year-old, however, is not worried about that at all. "I think in a country where 15 million people are playing, it is very hard to get in for any one. So, my philosophy is simple. If there is a need, people are going to call you. Till then you have to do your work, keep improving. You play this sport because of how to work yourself, maximise your potential. If you are doing that I will be very happy and content. I am pushing my boundaries and trying to improve every day. Very grateful for all the selectors.

"I got to play in the Asian Games, the call up came all of a sudden out of nowhere. It was very fulfilling, because everyone's dream is to play for the country. You know the hardships, the struggles, when you are a self made person you know how the journey has been, you are here because of your own hard work, sleepless nights, of your processes, it has its own feelings and emotions, very grateful for everything God has given me in life to have a career in cricket, passion as a career which came together I think it is a luxury. Very grateful for everything that has happened in life," he said.

India reach SAFF U-19 Women's C'ships final

DHAKA: Neha struck twice in a second-half blitz as India beat Nepal 4-0 in their last league match to storm into the final of the SAFF U-19 Women's Championships. India will face hosts and defending champions Bangladesh in the final to be played on Thursday. The Young Tigresses had earlier won their first match 10-0 against Bhutan, followed by a 0-1 defeat to Bangladesh.

Dhas, Saharan play rescue act to help India secure place in U-19 WC final

AGENCIES @Benoni

FUELLED by splendid fifties by Sachin Dhas and captain Uday Saharan, defending champions India battled past South Africa by two wickets to storm into the final, their fifth consecutive, of the ICC Under-19 World Cup here on Tuesday.

Dhas (96, 95 balls, 11x4, 1x6) and Saharan (81, 124, 6x4), who were India's guiding forces in the last match against Nepal with a hundred each, garnered 171 runs for the fifth wicket as India hunted down the target of 245 with just 7 balls to spare. India will face either Australia or Pakistan in the summit clash to be played at this venue on Sunday, searching for their sixth trophy in the marquee event.

But the beginning of India's chase resembled a debris yard, losing four wickets for just 32 runs in the 12th over.

The South African new-ball bowler Kwena Maphaka jolted India in the first ball of their innings, dismissing Adarsh Singh with a nasty climbing delivery that the batter had no choice other than snicking to wicket-keeper Lhuan-dre Pretorious.

His partner Tristan Luus soon joined the fun with the wickets of Musheer Khan, Arshin Kulkarni and Priyanshu Moliya as all three India batters were indecisive outside the off-stump while hanging their bats to dry.

But the Indians found their saviours in Dhas and Saharan, who dished out innings of vastly contrasting nature and tempo.

Dhas was aggressive despite the situation his team was in, but Saharan was happy to keep his end going.

Dhas' knock was a treatise on playing cross-batted shots as he cracked a six, pulled fours besides those well-placed nudges through the vacant spots on the on-side. Saharan, on the other hand, was more traditional but was not entirely hesitant to bring out an exquisite drive or rasping cut whenever an opportunity was there for him to do so.

Dhas reached his fifty in 47 balls, fittingly, with a pull off pacer Riley Norton and Saharan reached his half-century in 88 balls with a cover drive off off-spinner Juan James. In the process, Saharan also became the highest run-getter in this World Cup with 389 runs.

But these two youngsters showed immense maturity not to squander the start they got; piling runs to keep the pressure squarely on the hosts.

A second hundred in this event was there for his taking, but Maphaka, the tournament's highest wicket-taker so far, deceived him with a slower ball that Dhas just managed to scoop to David Teeger at covers. But the breakthrough came a wee bit late as India hung on to squeeze past the line notwithstanding the run out of Saharan when the scores were level.

BRIEF SCORES

Sachin, Sagar enter Strandja Memorial quarters

AGENCIES @Sofia (Bulgaria)

FORMER world youth champion Sachin and Commonwealth Games silver medallist Sagar entered the quarterfinals on day three of the 75th Strandja Memorial Tournament here on Tuesday.

Sachin (57kg) was up against Uzbekistan's Fayzov Khudoynazar in the pre-quarters and both the boxers came out with an attacking intent but it was Fayzov who took a slight advantage in the first round.

Sachin looked transformed in the second round and initiated a comeback by using his quick reflexes to dodge multiple attacks before landing some accurate jabs.

In the third round, he was at his attacking best, leaving his opponent clueless with his sharp punches and quick movements, ultimately grabbing a phenomenal 3-2 win to enter the quarter-finals. He will now face Kapanadze Giorgi of Georgia on Friday.

Sagar (92+kg) faced Lithuania's Jazeviciius Jonas in the pre-quarters. The Indian pugilist looked completely in control of the game from the get-go as he put up a scintillating attacking display, making his way into the quarterfinals with a 5-0 unanimous decision win.

Sagar will now take on Zokirov Jakhongir of Uzbekistan on Thursday.

Vanshaj (63.5kg) went down fighting in a close contest against Iran's Habibinezhad Ali. Both the boxers were cautious in their approach and were looking to capitalise on counterattacks.

Vanshaj had his moments of domination but eventually, the final verdict came against him as he lost the bout 2-3 to end his campaign.

Late on Monday, Arundhati Choudhary (66kg) made her way into the quarterfinals with a 4-1 win over France's Sonvico Emilie. She will now face Matovic Milena of Serbia on Thursday.

Scientists at Krishi Vigyan Kendra in Baramati district - Pune, are working on 'interspecific vegetable grafting', helping farmers fight crop disease and increase productivity

ASHWINI M SRIPAD

Several fruits and vegetables that Indians consume as staples today, trace their origin to foreign shores. However, over centuries, their relevance to the country's cuisine has become indispensable. Take the case of tomatoes, potatoes, brinjals, capsicum or chillies. These are essential ingredients in any Indian kitchen, and feature in a range of recipes. Careful experimentation and work in agriculture technologies overtime, have ensured a steady supply of homegrown tasty and nutritious vegetables and fruits.

Now jumping many strides forward, following constant experiments over decades, scientists worldwide have found a unique way of growing at least two vegetables in a single plant. This 'interspecific grafting' has emerged as a promising means to enhance productivity of vegetables.

Grafting is an approach where two or more diverse living plant tissues are joined together to develop a new composite plant. Grafting technology is not new. One of the oldest grafting techniques originated in China during 500 CE, where farmers grafted two plants of the same species to get a bigger crop of gourd.

Presently, grafting technology for commercial production is being used in many countries across Europe, West Asia, North Africa, Central America, and Asia.

"Meanwhile, this dual or multiple grafting is a new technological option, wherein two or more scions of the same family are grafted together to harvest more than one vegetable from a single plant," says Yashwant L Jagdale, Project In-charge at India's first Indo-Dutch project -- Centre of Excellence for Vegetables, Krishi Vigyan Kendra, Pune. Explaining the grafting process, Jagdale says that regular seedlings from seeds to ready seedlings require 25-30 days for transplantation in the field, but grafted vegetable seedlings require 40-45 days for transplanting in the main field.

Pomato and Brimato

At present, brinjal, capsicum, chilli, potato, and tomato plants are being grafted through this interspecific grafting process. Already, scientists have successfully developed 'Pomato', a combination of potato and tomato, wherein in a single plant, one can derive tomatoes at the shoot and potatoes at the root. Motivated by this breakthrough, scientists have also developed 'Brimato', where brinjal and tomato are both grown at the shoot.

The above and other grafting trials by the KVK Pune were conducted at their demonstration farm, with technology from the International Crops Research Institute for the Semi-Arid Tropics (ICRISAT), Hyderabad, and the Indian Institute of Vegetables Research (IIVR) in Varanasi. They also used grafted brinjal and capsicum plants in their trials, while also conducting demo trials on a local irrigated farmland, composed of medium black soil. These demo trials were carried out during the Kharif season last year on farmers' fields also.

The trials were done in the Baramati region of Pune, which sees frequent incidence of low rainfall, water scarcity, soil-borne diseases and pest infestations. Farmers take up capsicum farming using drip irrigation, mulching paper, and raised beds, but production remains suboptimal, says a study by KVK Baramati. "Trials here aimed to address these issues and enhance capsicum yield. After introducing grafted seedlings, using the same practices, a promising solution was achieved," says Jagdale.

According to him, 358 quintals per hectare of produce was yielded on the farm, whereas 465 quintals per hectare at their campus in capsicum. Through this approach, there are many advantages for farmers too, in the form reduced soil-borne diseases and yield increase by over 30%. The diseases include fusarium wilt in cucumber, melons and bacterial wilt in tomato, peppers, and other vegetables. "Grafting is an effective approach to improve vegetable or fruit quality under both optimal growth conditions and salinity," he informs.

Explaining the nutritional aspect of the vegetables, Jagdale says there is no major difference between the vegetables grown through grafting and the normal way. However, the vegetables grown through grafted seedlings are tastier that their normal counterparts. Interestingly, these grafted seedlings can be grown in any type of soil -- red or black or or any type of problematic soils by using suitable wild rootstock for it. They can be grown on a large scale, helping farmers by reducing the cost of production, and increasing the net benefits per acre of their farm. It will also increase tolerance to biotic stresses (due to bacteria, fungus, etc.) and abiotic stresses (drought, heat, cold, etc.) on plants.

Stressing on disadvantages, Jagdale says, "The only limitation is the lack of availability of grafted seedlings and different types of rootstocks."

In the coming years, this technology could be geared towards tackling shrinking agricultural lands, since it aims to get more yield over a minimum area through low-cost production. "We have produced over 7.5 lakh vegetable grafted seedlings and supplied them to farmers across Maharashtra," says Jagdale. At present, scientists continue to work on this technology in the Netherlands and at IIVR in Varanasi, and prepare it for the future.

MORE ON GRAFTING

According to the University of Missouri, some cultivars of plants do not come true from seeds. Others are difficult or impossible to reproduce from cuttings or other propagation techniques. Grafting is a way to change a large tree from an old to a new variety. It is also a method of using a root system better adapted to soil or climate than that produced naturally by a non-grafted plant. Meanwhile, the National Library of Medicine explains interspecific grafting as a method wherein the shoot part of a plant (scion) is grafted onto a root part of another plant (rootstock) often with distinct genetic constitution (different species or genera).

BEHIND THE SCIENCE

NETTIE STEVENS

THE 'X' FACTOR

SONIA SALI

IN the 20th century, a young American biologist and geneticist was motivated to solve a scientific mystery that had bewildered humanity for ages. The mystery — How do males and females come to be? It is all thanks to Nettie Stevens that we know today that sex is hereditary and the father's sperm determines the sex of the offspring. Born on July 7, 1861, Nettie grew up during the civil war, a time when women and their scientific innovations were ruled out. When she graduated at 19, she went on to become a teacher but she longed to pursue education further. She taught for three terms, while simultaneously saving up to attend the Westfield Norma School, a teachers' college. By 1900, at the age of 35, she had earned a bachelor's and master's degree from Stanford. Thereafter, she pursued PhD at Bryn Mawr in Pennsylvania. It was here that she diverted her attention to solving the mystery of sex determination. She made observations with a microscope of the chromosomes in Tenebrio Molitor - the mealworm beetle. It is here that she discovered that both the male and female mealworm's cells had 20 large chromosomes. But the 20th chromosome of the male was notably smaller than the other 19. In a report summarising findings, Nettie wrote that it seemed to be a clear case of sex determination. Thus, she concluded that the sperm had either the small version of the 20th chromosome or the large one. The spermatozoa which contain the small chromosome determine the male sex and those that contain chromosomes of equal sizes determine the female sex. However, she did not name these chromosomes X or Y. Moreover, despite her discoveries, Nettie's colleague and mentor EB Wilson is commonly known as the discoverer of the sex chromosomes. He was working on the same topics as Nettie and even published similar results around the same time. But Wilson had worked on a species where the make had one chromosome less than the female, which is not common in nature. However, it is generally believed that Wilson obtained the same results as Nettie. And further owing to his higher reputation and his paper being published before Nettie, he is credited with the discovery. Even though their papers were similar, it was Nettie's discoveries that presented a stronger and eventually the correct conclusion. Unfortunately, nine years after completing her PhD, she died of breast cancer on May 4, 1912.

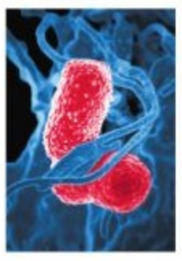
Resistant bacteria can remain in the body for years

Fighting disease-causing bacteria becomes more difficult when antibiotics stop working. People with pre-existing conditions in particular can carry resistant germs and suffer from repeated infections for years, according to a study by the University of Basel and University Hospital Basel. Pneumonia, urinary tract infections, sepsis: diseases like these can become fatal without antibiotics. Some bacteria have developed the ability to break down beta-lactam antibiotics like penicillins and cephalosporins, making them ineffective. Once a patient's body has been colonised by these resistant bacteria, they can persist for a long time, reports Professor Sarah Tschudin Sutter's research group in the scientific journal Nature Communications.



The team at the Department of Clinical Research of the University of Basel and University Hospital Basel analysed multiple samples taken from over 70 individuals over a period of 10 years. The researchers looked at a much longer period of time than previous studies and focused on older people with pre-existing conditions. Their key question: whether and how resistant Klebsiella pneumoniae and Escherichia coli bacteria in the body change over this long period and how they differ in various parts of the body.

DNA analysis indicates that the bacteria initially adapt quite quickly to the conditions in the colonised parts of the body, but undergo few genetic changes thereafter. The resistant bacteria could still be detected in the patients up to nine years later. "These patients not only repeatedly become ill themselves, they also act as a source of infection for other people -- a reservoir for these pathogens," says Dr Lisandra Aguilar Bultet, the study's lead author. "This is crucial information for choosing a treatment," explains Professor Tschudin Sutter. These findings about the bacterial genetic diversity expected to develop in individual patients over time are a valuable basis for future studies to analyse factors found in both bacteria and patients that correlate with duration of colonisation and progression from colonisation to infection.

FACT OF THE MATTER

BIOLOGICAL CIRCUIT THAT PROTECTS PLANTS

LOS ANGELES: A new Climate change is already harming agricultural yields and may one day pose a significant threat to the world's food supply. Engineering more resilient crops, including those able to thrive in the face of drought or high soil salinity levels, is an increasingly urgent need. A new study from the Keck School of Medicine of USC, funded in part by the National Institutes of Health, reveals details about how plants regulate their responses to stress that may prove crucial to those efforts. Researchers found that plants use their circadian clocks to respond to changes in external water and salt levels throughout the day. That same circuitry—an elegant feedback loop controlled by a protein known as ABF3—also helps plants adapt to extreme conditions such as drought. The results were published in Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences.

BREAKTHROUGH IN QUANTUM MATERIALS STUDY

IRVINE: Researchers at the University of California, Irvine and Los Alamos National Laboratory, publishing in the latest issue of Nature Communications, describe the discovery of a new method that transforms everyday materials like glass into materials scientists can use to make quantum computers. "The materials we made are substances that exhibit unique electrical or quantum properties because of their specific atomic shapes or structures," says Luis A Jauregui, professor of physics & astronomy at UCI and lead author of the new paper. "Imagine if we could transform glass, typically considered an insulating material, and convert it into efficient conductors akin to copper. That's what we've done." The key, Jauregui explained, was applying the right kind of strain to materials at the atomic scale.

HOW IT WORKS

PETS THAT SWIM BACK FROM DORMANT SLEEP

ARSHITHA RAJ

Pets come in various shapes, sizes, colours, species, and types. Some are unique, and provide a lesson in science. Let's take the case of 'sea monkeys'. Sea monkeys, scientifically known as Artemia (brine shrimp), boasts of a fascinating and unique life cycle that has captivated scientists and enthusiasts alike. These tiny crustaceans, introduced as novelty aquarium pets by Harold von Braunhut in the US in 1957, undergo a series of distinct development stages, making their life cycle a remarkable tale of resilience and adaptability.

The life cycle of sea monkeys begins with the hatching of their dormant eggs referred to as cysts. These cysts can remain in a state of suspended animation for years, enduring harsh conditions such as desiccation and extreme temperatures. This adaptation allows sea monkeys to survive in diverse environments, from temporary pools of water to hypersaline lakes. The cysts possess a protective outer shell that shields them from environmental stresses, enabling them to endure unfavourable conditions until the right circumstances trigger their hatching.

Once the cysts encounter suitable conditions, such as the presence of water, they start the hatching process. The reproductive strategy of sea monkeys contributes significantly to their adaptability. The ability to produce cysts ensures that sea monkeys can disperse and establish populations in various environments. The cysts can be transported by wind, water currents, or even by attaching to the feathers of birds, facilitating their distribution to new locations. This dispersal mechanism enhances the chances of sea monkeys encountering suitable conditions for hatching and completing their life cycle.

At their biggest, sea monkeys attain a size of over half-an-inch. They can live up to five years, and can also reproduce

POP ICONS

Sea monkeys as pets were heavily marketed in the 1960s and 70s in comic books, and are an icon in pop culture. They are dubbed, "The World's Only Instant Pets!"

The development flexibility of sea monkeys is another crucial factor in their adaptability. The progression through distinct larval stages allows them to adjust to changing environmental conditions. The nauplius larva, the first stage after hatching, is a simple planktonic form that can take advantage of nutrient-rich environments. As the sea monkey moults and progresses through metanauplius and juvenile stages, it adapts to different ecological niches, displaying versatility in its feeding habits and environmental requirements. The osmoregulatory capabilities of sea monkeys also contribute to their survival in extreme salinity conditions.

The adaptability and survival of sea monkeys in extreme conditions are facilitated by a combination of evolutionary traits and physiological adaptations.

Sea monkeys have also found their way to scientific experiments, including space missions. Their ability to adapt to changing conditions makes them suitable candidates for studying the effects of microgravity and radiation in space.

In conclusion, sea monkeys are more than just pets. They are miniature wonders that offer a glimpse into the resilience and adaptability of life in the aquatic realm.

'AT THAT MOMENT, I HAD A FLASHBACK OF MY CAREER'

PIC: SHASHIDHAR BYRAPPA

It's a special year for former tennis ace Vijay Amritraj who will be travelling to Rhode Island in the United States of America for his formal induction into the International Tennis Hall of Fame later this year

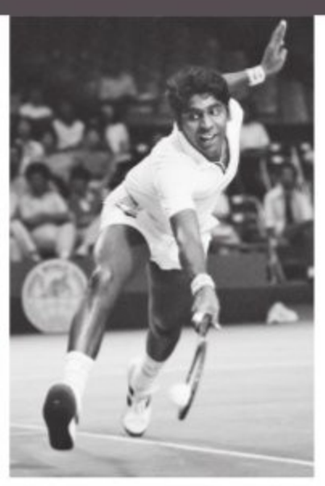
The news came to me actually right the day before my birthday in December. So it was quite a birthday gift. The most important part of this induction into the Hall of Fame, especially in the Contributor category, is that it encompasses the entirety of one's contributions to the sport

Vijay Amritraj, former tennis ace

DESE GOWDA

WHEN tennis ace Vijay Amritraj first burst onto the international scene in the '70s, India had been experiencing the golden era of tennis for over a decade. Yet, often regarded as India's first superstar, the-then 21-year-old Amritraj, along with teammates Sashi Menon, Jasjit Singh, and others took India to the World Cup Finals for the second time in 1974. With his classic serve-and-volley style, complemented by his intelligent strategic play on the court, Amritraj had a remarkable career during the '70s and '80s, with successes at Wimbledon and the US Open.

Nearly three decades since he said goodbye to the game professionally, the now 70-year-old is being recognised for his contributions, with an induction into the International Tennis Hall of Fame. "The news came to me actually right the day before my birthday in December. So it was quite a birthday gift. The most important part of this induction into the Hall of Fame, especially in the Contributor category, is that it encompasses the entirety of one's contributions to the sport over an extended period. At that moment, I had a flashback of my career," says



Amritraj, who was recently at the Leela Palace Bengaluru, taking part in a celebration in his honour.

The induction – to be held in July 2024 at Newport Casino, Rhode Island, United States, where the Hall of Fame is located – is even more special to Amritraj, because it's where he lifted three of 16 singles trophies there. "And interestingly, it was during every [US] election year - in '76, '80 and '84. Intriguingly, this induction also comes during an election year! Newport is not just a location but a significant part of tennis history in the US, being the birthplace of American tennis. Winning there three times, a record in itself, and now being inducted into the Hall of Fame in such a prestigious category, and as the only Asian, is incredibly humbling," adds Amritraj, who alongside tennis, has had a successful career as an actor, with a notable appearance in the 1983 James Bond flick Octopussy as well as the 1986 film Star Trek IV: The Voyage Home.

'NO ONE DESERVES THIS ACCOLADE MORE THAN ROHAN'

Reflecting on Rohan Bopanna's recent triumph at the Australian Open, Amritraj says, "After I got married in '83, there were comments like, 'Oh, well, he is married, he's not going to be able to win anymore.' Winning again in '84 proved those sceptics wrong. Rohan's motivation to play at 43 is impressive. As one ages, physical capabilities change; routine tasks becomes more challenging. In doubles tennis, however, there's a significant advantage, offering a different set of challenges compared to singles. Rohan's ability to stay motivated, despite frequent losses, is commendable. His passion and dedication are extraordinary," he says, adding, "More than his prowess on the court, Rohan is a remarkable individual and a fantastic ambassador for tennis in India. His pleasant nature and representation have made him a beloved and respected figure in the sport, both in India and globally. But more than anything, he's a terrific guy, and no one deserves this accolade more than he does."

BEAUTY IN BLUR

City-based photographer Vivek Mathew's new exhibition Gaze of Silence paints a picture through panes

MONIKA MONALISA

IF city-based Vivek Mathew is ever asked what his superpower is, the answer would probably be finding beauty through his camera. If you want to get a glimpse of his work, check out his solo exhibition titled Gaze of Silence at Reves Art Gallery in Jayanagar.

According to Mathew, Gaze of Silence is about abstract images that have a lot of usage of windows and panes, and the inspiration for it comes from every small thing. "...cafes, restaurants, churches, sunroofs, congealing mirrors, commandeering reds and bland blues, stark reds, and magnetic oranges... all of these are my inspiration. With just enough of a blur to make it all seem more of a painting and less of a picture," explains Mathew.

Mathew will be presenting 24 of his works on which he has worked for some time. "I have always found the work of Saul Leiter very fascinating. Leiter was known for his experiments with colour photography in New York in the late 1940s, using slide film such as Kodachrome," explains Mathew.

Being born and raised in the city, he has seen quaint Bangalore grow into bustling Bengaluru. And seven of Mathew's earlier solo shows take inspiration from the city. If you ask him what the most beautiful things about the city are, it would be how it has evolved over some time, which can also be seen in his works. He further emphasises that for any sort of work, whether it's art or photography, it is important to have a different perspective. "To have a different perspective, it is important to have an open mind," says Mathew, who doesn't touch up his pictures. "I simply take them on my Nikon D50," he adds.

'EVERY AGE SHAPES ITS OWN WRITERS'

With grandmother, writer Mahasweta Devi

ALEXANDER SEBASTIAN

GENERAL Firebrand, the protagonist of Tathagata Bhattacharya's debut novel, is a soldier with a soul. His military prowess and bravado are the stuff of legends and his moral clarity is much admired by his peers, but deep inside, he is as flawed as they come and is in search of redemption. Set in a fictional world that is, at times, too close to the real one, Bhattacharya's General Firebrand and his Red Atlas (Seagull Books) is the story of a land and its people, who are waging a war against their totalitarian government helmed by a dictator, who wants to turn it into a 'Special Economic Zone', displacing and oppressing them. Lynching is a popular ticketed event in the republic. Religion reigns supreme, but not over the wish of the supreme leader. Helmed by General Firebrand, the resistance resists, all guns blazing, fighting the dystopia with dignity, and style.

With talking animals and flying saucers, ghosts of Russian generals from the Stalinist era and characters from the Bengali writer and Bhattacharya's father Nabarun Bhattacharya's last and unfinished novel, General Firebrand and his Red Atlas is a novel that, in itself, is uncategorisable. A satire on authoritarianism, it is a chronicle of a revolution, with all its magic and misery. However, the novel is a bit too fast paced for themes of such gravity and one loses conviction in the characters and the plot at times.

Tathagata Bhattacharya's first novel is a satire on authoritarianism. It fits well with his family lineage — being the grandson of writer Mahasweta Devi. It has talking animals, ghosts of Stalinist generals, and characters from his father Nabarun Bhattacharya's last and unfinished novel

Q&A

The grandson of writer and activist Mahasweta Devi, Bhattacharya, who stays in Noida, says that the novel is, in parts, a response to what has been happening in the country over the past few years. "I'm not one of those writers who can write about a very esoteric middle-class life, living in a cocoon. That's not the school of writers I come from," says Bhattacharya.

Excerpts:

Who or what inspired the character of General Firebrand?

I have met people in my life, especially when working as a journalist, who have certain traits of him. Also, growing up as an only child, I had made up an imaginary big brother, who used to live on a tree in our garden (laughs). General Firebrand is an amalgamation of all of them.

The language of the novel has a distinctive bareness to it.

I deliberately use language as a weapon. I wanted the book to be irreverent and the prose to be zany. For example, there are certain images or even names of characters that the so-called safe genre of literature might find pretty grotesque.

I have used characters from my father's last novel Mablage Novel (The Novel of the Mob), which was unfinished at the time of his death in 2014. It was published in Bengal with the last 20 pages left blank for the readers to make their own conclusions. I used the characters because I wanted to give them some kind of closure. I think I owed it to him. I have also been a follower of the World War II, and the book has several Russian characters from that time. I am what they call a Russophile because I grew up with a lot of Russian literature and music. There are also Indian characters from the time of World War II, including fighter pilots Indra Lal Roy and Sardar Hardit Singh Malik. I have always been very interested in history and international affairs.

Would you say Calcutta is at the heart of the novel?

I've based the story in Calcutta because it's a city I know like the back of my hand. Although I've lived in Delhi for a pretty long time now, I still do not know the place much. So, I wanted that city to come into play, especially its rough side, its underbelly. Since I'm so conversant with the city I've used it as a focal point. But honestly there wasn't a specific preference to set it there.

You come from a family of radical writers, including your grandfather and playwright Bijon Bhattacharya. Do you think that has influenced your own writing?

A good thing about growing up in a family of writers is that you will be surrounded by books. You get a lot of exposure to literature from all over the world. My grandparents and my father wrote very different genres of literature. My grandmother wrote a lot of historical works and also focused on gender issues, while my father was a very modernist writer. One thing I've learned from observing them is that a writer should never be taken in by comparisons. Every age will shape its own writers.

Going back to your hometown in your 30s

HRIDAY RANJAN
Urban Bourbon
(Writer, comedian)

A visit to your hometown in your 30s is usually an exercise in conflicting emotions. Going back to the streets you grew up in makes you a better person – albeit for a few hours only! You speak to strangers. You try to be friendly, and look for a dustbin since you don't wish to litter the place.

I grew up in a small town, and Tier-2 nostalgia works differently from Tier-1 nostalgia. People who grew up in Tier-1 cities are constantly complaining about development and trees being cut. It comes from the privilege of having grown up in a city that also had trees, parks, and gardens. But people who grew up in Tier-2 towns are secretly glad that buildings, flyovers, and pavements are finally making their way to their hometown. That street lights and other amenities are now available when their parents step out in the evenings.

But nostalgia is a dangerous emotion. Wallow in it for too long, and it becomes depressing. As I took my scooter around my childhood colonies, I discovered the clear difference between capitalism and socialism. I grew up in two colonies. One was a colony where capitalism was allowed to flourish freely. The other area was a government colony where even putting up an extra gate required the permission of authorities. Every time I roam around the private colony, I find myself straining to draw any connections. The buildings have all been torn down, and newer ones have been erected in their place. But when I roam around the government colony, I am struck by how little has changed, like the same cows have been roaming the streets for two decades now. The same monkeys seem to be making faces at me, and even the dogs wave their tails, as if recognising the puffs of 'Z' talcum powder that I would plaster myself with back in the day!

Going to your hometown in your 30s is a strange experience. All our lives, we read about the pain of leaving one's hometown to go looking for work. Writers like Manoj Das and Anton Chekov remind us of the simple joys of our hometown. But we are an immigrant generation. As you read this column on a Wednesday afternoon, either you or your parents left your hometown at some point to earn money and make a name for yourself. For many of us, our city of work signifies a certain freedom. The 30s are also an age when your friends begin to pass into the other realm. When that friend begins to knock on the old, wooden doors of memories, the conversation steers into how he was a nice guy, after all! Lanes that should have made you smile remind you of relationships past. Every childhood memory is marred with a sliver of regret.

After a few days in my hometown, I was reminded of why I left it in the first place. I began to feel claustrophobic as the town shut down every night by 9pm. The TVs that constantly played Hindi songs from the '90s began to gnaw at my insides. The laidback nature of my hometown made me crave the chaos of my karmabhoomi. If you think your city is too chaotic, go and live in your hometown for a few days. As I countdown the days when I go back to my little brown room of chaos, I am of the firm opinion that nostalgia should be packed into a bag and tucked deep into the attic. For memories, like old photographs, begin to rot after a point.

'JUST PASS STUDENTS ARE NOT YOUR AVERAGE BOOKWORMS'

...says Shri Mahadev talking about his upcoming film, Just Pass, which is his third consecutive college film

Shri Mahadev

A SHARADHAA

SEEMS like Shri Mahadev, after Ondisi Bareyiri, and Gajanana and Ganga, continues his relationship with college campus, with Just Pass. "Over the last few years, I have certainly enjoyed working in youth entertainers, set in the college campus. Interestingly, all three had different stories, and I appear in different characterizations, and there was a transformation in my looks too," says Shri Mahadev, ahead of the film's release on Feb 9.

"In fact, I didn't enjoy that college life when I was given an opportunity, as I was studious and busy with tuitions. I had regretted that later and even manifested to get back to those days. I have got that through these three films," he adds. Just Pass, written and directed by KM Raghu, is produced by Shashidhar KV under Royce Entertainment banner, and along with Shri Mahadev, the film brings together a whole set of young actors along with Rangayana Raghu, Sadhukokila, Suchendra Prasad, Naveen D Padikkal, Prakash Tuminad, and Deepak Rai among others in pivotal roles. The film has editing by KM Prakash, music by Harshvardhan Raj and cinematography by Sujay Kumar Bhavikatte.

According to Shri, the plot of Just Pass is about the last benchers who score 35 in academics, and a particular college that is opened just for average students. "How this college of average students helps in transforming their carefree life is the crux of the film," he says.

He feels that these students should be given fair treatment without being partial to them. "The average students don't get admissions in good colleges, and eventually they don't get the right job. I believe that life is all about a second chance, and when a few just pass out, those with 35 marks should be given an opportunity. According to my opinion, they are not bookworms, they have world knowledge, and we have a few great examples of famous personalities in every field, who have been college dropouts, but done very well in their life and respective fields," he says.

Shri, who made a transition from serials to films, draws parallel with these just pass college students to his current career growth. "While my character Arjun in Just Pass is put among the average students he goes about proving something important. Likewise, people, who have seen my work, think that I deserve something better. From my end, I am somebody who keeps trying, and never wants to give up," he says, adding, "I didn't have a channel to enter the silver screen, so I took the serial route. Not being a trained actor, and the small screen gave me that confidence. Today it has helped me to play any kind of role. Serials were like primary school, and I am now in high school, six years four months, into the industry, going forward, I am hoping to grow with flying colors," he concludes.

'IF FILMS DON'T PERFORM WELL, SONGS DON'T REACH THEIR POTENTIAL NOW'

...shares noted composer Mano Murthy as he discusses his forthcoming compositions for the romantic thriller Pranayam, set to release this week

CE FEATURES

MANO Murthy, the noted composer, has ensured for decades that his songs and music linger in people's hearts, especially the melodious tracks, even long after the films are done and dusted. Examples abound, including Amrutha Dhaare, America America, Joke Falls, Cheluvina Chittara, Geleya, and Mangaru Male, to name a few. However, the music director, who is an NRI, seemed to have disappeared for a few years; he is now back to captivate audiences with a new set of films, the latest being director Dattareya's upcoming romantic mystery thriller Pranayam. The film, starring Rajavardan and Nayana Ganguly, is produced by Paramesh of P2 Production and is set to release on February 9.

"I haven't vanished. After that peak period, for some reason, the latter films which I worked on somehow didn't do too well," says Mano Murthy. "In my view, I realised that today if films don't perform well, songs don't achieve their potential, but there are exceptions. Today, people are mostly drawn by the content and trailers, which become the key invitations to theaters. Unlike before, songs don't have the same impact in attracting audiences. Also, albums in those days were either on CDs or FM. Now, songs are streaming on every platform before release, allowing people to form their opinions even before watching them in theaters and how the songs complement the entire film. A handful of films for which I have composed music have failed for different reasons. Even then, the songs have done well, but not to the extent we expected," he adds.

Mano Murthy describes Pranayam as a mystery thriller with a different love story, and each track is melodious. He underscores that as a music director, the strength of Pranayama's music lies in the background score. "Background scores have to complement the visuals, which are extraordinary, and I take a lot of time to work on them," he says. Mano Murthy has composed six songs, bringing in famous singers like Shreya Ghoshal, Sonu Nigam, and Kunal Ganjawala, along with Hemanth Kumar, who has lent his voice to various tracks in Pranayam. The lyrics are penned by Jayanth Kaikini, Hrudaya Shiva, and Chinmaya Bhavikere. "To a large extent, I have to go by what the makers wish and rope in noted singers. This time, I have used a new singer, Vani Sathish, who lives in Davangere," he says.

The music director has a good set of lineups; his next includes Gajarama. "I have also collaborated with Nagathihalli Chandrashekar's for his next project and Kuladalli Keelyavudo directed by Shreyas Raj Shetty, which is currently in the works. The film has to do well, and people have come to watch Kannada films for the content, visuals, and also for the songs as well," he concludes.
